U. S. BANS DUCE NAVAL AIDE

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—The United States today demanded immediate recall of the Italian naval attache, in Washington, Admiral Alberto Lais, on the grounds that he was connected with the sabotaging of Italian merchant ships in this country.

Secretary of State Hull sent a note to this effect to the Italian ambassador, Prince Colonna, on orders of President Roosevelt.

The note, made public by the State Department, declared that Admiral Lais was "persona non grata to this government as naval attache of the Royal Italian embassy at Washington," and requested "that Your Excellency's government withdraw him immediately from the United States."

NAZIS CLEAR WAY FOR WAR ON SLAVS

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, April 3 (AP)—Germany ordered all of her legation staff gave two men home to Berlin today in a flurry of ominous military activity and diplomatic circles expressed belief that Adolf Hitler had decided that war with Yugoslavia was inevitable.

Only the German charge d'affaires and military attache were exempted from the recall order, which a legation secretary said would be fulfilled by nightfall.

Motorized German troops were reported massing in Rumania opposite the Yugoslav frontier town of Bela Crkva, only 50 miles from Belgrade, and at Szeged in southern Hungary.

Vladimir Macek, veteran leader of Croat autonomists, announced he was entering the new government of Premier Gen. Dusan Simovic as a vice premier and the nation thus seemed assured of unity, despite German and Italian efforts to split it.

Macek said he hoped that "despite all difficulties piling upon us we can, with collaboration and a common effort, preserve peace and overcome the difficulties which dark times recently have brought upon us."

The German radio, in early morning broadcasts reminiscent of those which preceded the Nazi entry into Czechoslovakia, accused the Yugoslav anew of committing atrocities against the German minority in the country.

Indications that the recall order

Windsors Safe As U. S. Yacht Is Refloated

NASSAU, Bahamas, April 3 (AP)—The 234-foot yacht Rene carrying the Duke and Duchess of Windsor on a tour of eastern Bahama Islands went aground today but was refloated soon afterward and proceeded toward Nassau under its own power.

The yacht, reportedly owned by Alfred P. Sloan, General Motors president, grounded off Bridge Point, Eleuthera Island.

A seaplane and fast boats were sent to the scene soon after the yacht carrying the abdicated king of England and his American-born Duchess asked for aid.

The note said the action was taken because of "various circumstances" which had come to the attention of this government "connecting" Admiral Lais "with the commission by certain persons of acts in violation of the laws of the United States."

President Roosevelt, the note said, had decided that the continued presence of Admiral Lais "would no longer be agreeable to this government."

STUDY SHIP FORFEITURE

Secretary Hull, in releasing the note at his press conference, said he could not take up at this time the question of whether similar action might be taken against any German officials in this country.

It was recalled that the captain of an Italian ship seized last weekend in Texas was quoted by officials as saying that he had orders from the Italian naval attache in Washington to destroy his engines.

Two German and 28 Italian merchant vessels have been taken into custody in American harbors and only yesterday the State Department said it had received new and vigorous protests from the Axis powers.

Today, Secretary Morgenthau said he and Atty. Gen. Jackson were "studying" possible action to forfeit these ships to the United States.

Although each embassy has sent two notes demanding the release of the ships and crews, the United States has not yet made a formal reply.

RECALL VON PAPEN ACTION

Officials, however, have indicated that the replies would be outright rejection.

The government's action in asking recall of the Italian naval attache followed precedents set prior to the United States' entrance into the World War when it forced Germany to recall its naval attache here and also a member of the embassy staff, Franz von Papen, who is now German ambassador to Turkey.

An Italian embassy official said the State Department's note had been transmitted to Rome and that the embassy was awaiting instructions.

While the note was phrased as a request, it is tantamount to a demand.

Admiral Lais had been naval attache here since February, 1940. This is his second assignment in Washington. He was attached to the embassy here from 1926 to 1929.

WED U. S. GIRL

Lais married an American woman, Eleanor Evans, in Italy and they have a daughter.

Under normal procedure, the United States would arrange safe passage for Admiral Lais. It was expected that his family would accompany him.

The United States a month ago asked the embassy to keep the State Department advised on the movements outside of Washington of the Italian military and naval officials here.

At the same time the State Department ordered the closing of Italian consular offices at Newark, N. J., and Detroit, Mich.

This followed Italy's action in forcing the United States to close two consulates in that country.

HUNGARIAN PREMIER TELEKI ENDS OWN LIFE

BUDAPEST, Hungary, April 3 (AP)—Count Pal Teleki, 62-year-old premier of Hungary, died unexpectedly in the night and hours later the mystery of his death was partly clarified by an official Hungarian news agency dispatch which said he committed suicide.

The agency said the manner of death was determined by physicians who examined his body. No explanation was immediately forthcoming. Friends said the premier took poison.

The Hungarian government was said to have resigned as a result of Teleki's death.

Dr. Laszlo de Bardossy, foreign minister in the Teleki government, was appointed premier and charged with formation of a new government.

The foreign office at first said the premier's death resulted from a heart ailment and denied reports by friends that Count Teleki had taken his own life.

Earlier dispatches also had said the count's wife died an hour before her husband but the foreign office said she was still alive, although very ill at a sanatorium.

The Swiss telegraphic agency published a dispatch from Budapest stating that "Teleki, prime minister of Hungary, committed suicide." "Before ending his life," the dispatch said, "he wrote a note in which he explained he no longer felt himself capable of fulfilling his difficult and unhappy task."

London reported a Belgrade rumor which said Teleki shot himself as the result of a demand from Hitler that Hungary must fight Yugoslavia. Editor's note: Hungarian newspapers said Teleki "met a tragic death" and that he had left a letter, "the contents of which are unknown."

The German radio, in a broadcast heard in New York by CBS, said the death was "a great loss to Hungary, and Germany mourns the loss of a great friend."—Editor's Note.

Count Teleki visited his wife's sickroom late last night, then returned home, where he was found dead in bed by his servants this morning, the foreign office statement asserted.

Teleki was chief of one of Hungary's great landed families and often was regarded as Regent Admiral Horthy's right hand man. The premier personally was known as pro-English rather than pro-German but sought to maintain the appearance of neutral independence in order to make his influence the greater on the Germans, whose drain of Hungary's food and other supplies often aroused cabinet controversies.

His death was the second tragedy among members of the Hungarian government this year. Foreign Minister Count Istvan Csaky died Jan. 27 of food poisoning contracted during a friendship visit to Yugoslavia where he signed a "pact of eternal friendship."

Teleki came to the United States 1921 to deliver a series of lectures at Williams College, Williamstown, Mass. Later he served on several League of Nations committees.

Ford Strike Peace Talk Hits Snag

DETROIT, April 3 (AP)—Violent but isolated outbreaks of fighting occurred near the strike-closed Ford Motor Co. plant this morning and Governor Murray D. van Wagoner announced that resumption of mediation conferences with CIO and company officials had been postponed.

Four Negroes in an automobile were beaten severely by union pickets who chased them nearly a mile from the main plant gate, and three of the pickets were struck down as a car following the Negroes' machine ploughed through the fighting group at a speed which witnesses estimated at 40 miles an hour.

The clash occurred in heavy traffic on Dix rd., a block east of Miller rd., along which the world's largest industrial plant stretches for a mile.

Three of the Negroes, whose car was overturned, fled; the other was picked up by unionists and taken to a hospital. The car that struck the group of fighters sped away without slackening speed.

PARLEY POSTPONED

Further conferences on a federal mediator's "plan of settlement" had been scheduled for 11 a. m., but shortly before that hour Governor Van Wagoner announced it would be postponed until state police and union leaders ironed out details of passing non-production workers through the picket lines.

Picket leaders and state police officers, the governor said, had disagreed on who had the final word on admission of persons to the plant. He added that union officials were "co-operating" to settle this difficulty.

Asked whether Ford representatives had refused to attend the mediation conference until this question was settled, Gov. Van Wagoner declined comment.

Miami-N.Y. Airliner Missing, 15 Aboard

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April 3 (AP)—An Eastern Air Lines transport plane carrying 15 persons was missing and hours overdue this afternoon on a storm-beset run from West Palm Beach to Daytona Beach.

TWINS ARE TWO TODAY

WALTHAM TWINS CELEBRATE—Although Paul appears a bit serious, both he and his twin sister, Mildred, face a big day . . . cause today's their second birthday. They're the children of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Neuffel of River st., Waltham . . . the parents of 14 children . . . and the grandparents of two other youngsters.

Heavy rains, high winds and clouds laid a belt across the state along the route of the plane, last heard from when it left West Palm Beach at 8:16 a. m. for a one-hour run into Daytona, next stop on the Miami-New York trip.

Tentatively listed among the 12 passengers was farmer Surgeon George W. Crile of Cleveland and Mrs. Crile, and Mrs. James M. Cox, Jr., daughter-in-law of the former Ohio Governor and 1920 Democratic presidential candidate. Arthur Dix, Daytona Beach airport manager, said apprehension was felt first when the plane failed to make its usual radio report from Melbourne, about a half hour out of Daytona.

Commander N. H. Leslie of Coast Guard divisional headquarters said an order had been issued to all Coast Guard planes and vessels along the route to aid in the search for the plane.

The New York office of Eastern Air Lines said the plane—north-bound flight No. 14—left Miami on schedule at 7:30 a. m., pulled out of West Palm Beach at 8:16 a. m. and had not been heard from since.

"We can't contact them by radio," an official said. "The radio is full of static; there's a bad storm in the plane's vicinity, apparently. We're hoping that it's circling in an attempt to land or has already landed elsewhere."

15 PERSONS ABOARD

Twelve passengers and a crew of three were aboard.

The "tentative" passenger list according to EAL was:

DR. GEORGE W. CRILE, of Cleveland, O., internationally known surgeon who found a surgical cure for shell shock.

MRS. CRILE.

DR. DAN F. QUIRING, of the Cleveland, O., Clinic Foundation, of which Dr. Crile was a founder.

MRS. J. M. COX, Jr.

E. W. HAGSATER.

BERTRAM STROOCK.

MRS. MARGARET GRAHAM.

H. E. POST.

MRS. MARGARET ALLEN.

MR. AND MRS. W. H. ANDREWS.

One passenger, unnamed. EAL said the list was unofficial pending confirmation from its Miami office.

HIGH WINDS REPORTED

The flight was in charge of Capt. Gerald O'Brien, with Pilot B. M. Crabtree and Flight Steward Al Martin, all of Miami, making up the crew.

EAL headquarters at LaGuardia field, New York, reported other EAL pilots flying along the Florida coast radioed they encountered "extremely high winds," at times "of hurricane proportions."

The EAL office at West Palm Beach said the missing plane carried sufficient gas to reach New York in an emergency. Visibility and radio reception at Daytona were poor.

Ensign F.D. Jr. Begins Duties on Destroyer

"Ensign Roosevelt reporting for duty in accordance with orders, sir."

Thus, today, Ensign Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., took up his new post aboard the destroyer U. S. S. Mayrant at Charlestown Navy Yard.

Arriving at the yard in taxicab young Roosevelt promptly went aboard his ship, faced aft to give the customary salute to the flag, then reported to the officer of the deck and to Lieut. Comdr. E. A. Taylor, commander of the ship.

The six-foot, four-inch son of the President was immediately faced with the problem of how he was to tuck his length into a regulation six-foot destroyer bunk. But he took it with a smile, saying: "It reminds me of my Pullman days while campaigning for my father."

After posing for newspaper and newsreel pictures, Ensign Roosevelt told reporters:

"I am glad to be able to report for duty and do my share. I have always been interested in the Navy and shared by father's interest in it."

He said "it was rather tough" to be forced to give up the practice of law now that he had successfully passed the examinations for the New York bar.

In discussing his brothers, young

Roosevelt volunteered the information that John, youngest of the President's four sons, would go into the service supply corps of the Navy next month. He now ranks as ensign in the Naval Reserve.

The Mayrant, a new vessel, was built at the Charlestown Navy Yard and commissioned in the fall of 1939. She is now undergoing a periodic overhaul.

It was expected he would be detailed as an assistant gunnery officer under instruction. Roosevelt will share a cabin with Ensign R. E. Watson, a Harvard classmate. His wife, the former Ethel de Pont, will join him here at the end of the week.

British Planes Sink Another Duce Ship

LONDON, April 3 (AP)—A second Italian destroyer has been sunk and a third left in a sinking condition by British naval airplanes after the craft attempted to escape from Massua, British port on the Red Sea, the admiralty announced today. Sinking of the first destroyer was announced yesterday.

WAR'S AERIAL GAME—Sid Michaels, Johnny Connearney, John J. Doherty and James G. McDonald (l. to r.) of Boston University have signed up for military flying service, it was announced today. Doherty, a former athlete, already has won his gold wings. The others are members of the football team.

BIRTH CONTROL BILL ASSAILED AT HEARING

Cries of "un-American," "subversive" were hurled today as a predominantly feminine crowd of more than 1000 jammed a public hearing on the so-called birth control bill in Gardiner auditorium at the State House.

Sen. William E. Nolan, of Hallowell, described the bill as a "filthy, un-American piece of legislation, which is being foisted on the people of Massachusetts."

But the women, most of whom were knitting, dropped their handwork and applauded vigorously when Chairman Joseph Montminy, of Weymouth, said the initiative petition on which the hearing was held had been approved, at least in its wording.

STATEMENT CHALLENGED

Montminy's statement was made in response to a challenge by Rep. Theodore A. Glynn, Jr., of Roxbury on the ground that one of the 10 original signers, Sara T. Curwood, of Cambridge, was not a "duly qualified voter."

"That decision will have to be made by the Attorney General," Montminy said. "We are not concerned with the validity of the petition; that is not in our scope. Glynn then declared that he wished to be recorded against the measure, 'which I deem to be subversive.'"

Scores of others arose to denounce the measure, among them former Mayor Frederick W. Mansfield, who sat in the front row, and announced he would oppose the measure as representative of Cardinal O'Connell.

But in the midst of all the opposition, one lone legislator arose to support the measure. He was Rep. Henry D. Winslow, of Cambridge.

"It seems to me," he said, "if a doctor can perform an operation to save a woman's life, that he should be permitted to advise her if pregnancy would endanger her life."

The proposed bill, as explained by the legislative counsel for its proponents, Atty. Samuel Hoar of Concord, "merely permits a physician to advise as to measures, if in his opinion, pregnancy would result in that woman's death."

LIST OF OPPOSITIONS

Former Mayor Mansfield submitted a list of speakers whom, he said, would appear against the measure in the name of the Catholic Church. The list included: Dr. Frederick A. Good of Boston, Dr. Louis F. Curran of Boston, Dr. Joseph O'Connor of Worcester, Dr. Charles Lynch of Springfield, Rev. John O'Connor of Northampton, Rev. William H. Harrington, supervisor of Catholic Charities, Fall River; Rev. Edward O'Brien, Fall River; Rt. Rev. Mgrs. Richard J. Quinlan of Boston and Rev. Thomas R. Reynolds of Duxbury.

DENTAL CHAIR LEAP VERDICT OVERRULED

In an opinion written by Justice Arthur W. Dolan, the full bench of Supreme Court today decided that Superior Court Judge Frank J. Donahue was in error when he directed a verdict for Dr. George H. Danforth, Lynn dentist, last year in a $50,000 suit.

The suit had been brought in behalf of George R. Langis of Mills ave., Revere, the dentist being charged with negligence in allowing Langis to leap out of the dental office second-floor window while under influence of an anesthetic.

"We think," said the Supreme Court decision, "that the jury were competent to pass on the question whether the defendant was negligent in leaving the unconscious or semi-conscious and potentially violent plaintiff in the care of a nurse who was without special training."

Dr. Danforth denied at the trial that an anesthetic had been administered when Langis called at the office to have two teeth extracted on March 5, 1938.

The doctor said he "made a grab for" the youth but that he was "moving too fast for me to hold him."

What was administered, the doctor testified, was an "anesthetic" in the form of nitrous oxide, to deaden pain.

Such use of this gas, he said, if it became anesthetic, was "really a quick drunk" in which a person might lose control of his nervous reflexes as he emerged from the state, "some to laugh, some to fight and some to boast."

The decision upheld plaintiff's exceptions and will mean the granting of a new trial.

Committee Studies School Food Charges

"Challenging" was the description given today by the Boston school committee to a sweeping criticism of the present setup of school lunchrooms and recommendation for a central system under expert management.

MATE JAILED

MRS. GEORGE PARKINSON
Socialite's Mate in Tiff

The blast against eating facilities was contained in a report by the advisory committee on school hygiene in which many lunchrooms were described as "overcrowded, poorly ventilated and dreary."

Other criticism included lack of proper facilities for pupils to wash up before eating, bad selection of food offered, inadequate seating room, lack of hot dishes which gave way to candy and tonic, and a wide breach between classroom study of cleanliness and health habits and its practical application in the lunchroom.

The report recommends a central system to replace the present groups managing eating places. These are the Women's Educational and Industrial Union operating 36 cafeterias at an annual deficit of $10,000; private concessionaires in six schools; the school committee itself operating eight eating places and the department of school hygiene in charge of five.

The new supervisor would be paid $4000 to $5000 and be selected from a list of 13 women, mostly now enrolled at women's schools. There isn't a woman in the state qualified by education and experience to handle the job, the report states.

The committee which prepared the report is headed by Dr. George C. Shattuck of Brookline and includes Dr. David L. Belding, Dr. Murray P. Woodward, Dr. Charles H. Bradford, Medical Examiner Timothy Leary and Dr. Frederick T. Lord.

HUB WOMEN FINED AFTER SALEM SHOW

SALEM, April 3—Four women performers were fined $25 each and five men were assessed fines ranging from $25 to $100 in district court today on charges of participating in an immoral performance. The charges followed a police raid on a stag party last night.

Charles Boris, 45, a caterer, of Boardman st., Salem, alleged promoter of the show, was fined $100. Boris also was given a three-month suspended sentence. He appealed and was held in $500.

The women, all married and living Boston addresses, were Mrs. Roberts Voight, 35, Mrs. Loretta Zeigler, 30, both of Union Park st., and Mrs. Dorothy Higgins, 22, and Mrs. Ann Lawrence, 22, both of Lawrence st.

For alleged participation in the promotion of the show Joseph P. Fybiak, 31, of Allen st., Salem, was fined $50; Henry Palmer, 32, of English st., Salem; Frederick L. Landers, 68, of Linden st., Salem, and Abe Gasner, 27, of Westland ave., Boston, were fined each $25. City Marshall John C. Harkins, who engineered the raid on the party held in the Pythian Castle in the center of the city, told Judge George B. Sears that Boris was the promoter of the show. He said similar shows have been held frequently of late in Salem.

The raiders trapped 60 prominent Salem citizens and their guests, who lunched among their number several city officials reported to have escaped from police while en route to police headquarters.

After several hours of questioning the spectators were released.

Labor Bill Brings Threat to Solon

State Sen. George W. Stanton of Fitchburg told the legislative rules committee today that he had been threatened with defeat at the next election for filing a bill which would require a 60-day "cooling off" period before a strike or lock-out could be put into effect in defense industries.

"We don't want strikes such as they have at the Ford plant with rocks thrown and bloodshed in Massachusetts," Stanton declared. "We can reach a peaceful conclusion in labor disputes if both sides sit down and talk it over. The only labor people who oppose this bill are Socialists, labor fakirs and Reds."

Kenneth I. Taylor, secretary-treasurer of the Massachusetts Federation of Labor, identified himself a few minutes later as "the labor fakir and Red" that Senator Stanton talks about, and asserted that passage of the bill would mean that Stanton will have to take the responsibility about which he speaks."

COCKTAIL TRAIL FOUND IN JOSS MURDER PROBE

RICHMOND, Me., April 3—Sweet whisperings over cocktail glasses and small town barber-shop talk today were woven into a transcript which state investigators insist will furnish a motive for the slaying of titian-haired Dr. Luverne Harris Joss.

Statements of 15 of the 51 witnesses questioned—one of them a trim, society matron—form the basis on which the state charges the 38-year-old woman doctor met death at the hands of her husband, Dr. Merrill E. Joss, four years his wife's junior.

All these, and a staircase cut from the 100-year-old Joss mansion, will be offered in evidence tomorrow when the youthful doctor is arraigned in Bath Municipal Court.

Crack state detectives have talked with managements and waitresses in cocktail lounges of hotels at Augusta, Lewiston, Portland, Brunswick and Gardiner, where they allege that Dr. Joss entertained the Richmond matron while his now dead wife thought he was making professional calls.

The woman, police said, has cooperated with them throughout the investigation.

Meanwhile, Dr. Joss steadily has maintained innocence and hourly old friends have come to his aid.

Among them are State Sen. Ned Bishop, who charged that the doctor has been made the victim of a mistake. He and many of the doctor's patients are expected to offer defense testimony.

Mrs. Joss was found dying at the foot of the cellar stairs of her home. An autopsy showed 26 distinct head wounds and police charge her head was battered against jagged rocks of the cellar foundation.

MAINE CHANGE FAVORED

AUGUSTA, Me., April 3 (AP)—A proposed constitutional amendment increasing the term of office of Maine governors from two to four years received support today by eight members of the legislative judiciary committee.

N. E. Warned On Water at Army Camps

Warning that care must be exercised to be sure that temporary or reserve water supplies are safe at military or industrial concentration centers, Prof. LeRoy W. Mallman of Michigan State College told the New England Health Institute today that he believed health departments are meeting this problem successfully.

"But is must not be given diminished attention as time goes on," he said.

"Most communities now have adequate water and sewage facilities—adequate to care for their usual needs but not to cope with the sudden influx of population which many sections of the country have today. Greatest care must be exercised."

Health defense preparations again held the spotlight on the second day of the 11th annual meeting at the Hotel Statler. High army and health officials supplemented Prof. Mallman's paper with reports on "Military Field Sanitation" and "Sanitary Problems in the Vicinity of Troop Areas."

Lt.-Col. W. A. Hadrenbergh of the Sanitary Corps, U. S. A., listed water supply, sewage disposal, insect control, ventilation and housing as some of the problems to be overcome when troops are in the field.

These conclusions were voiced at a session on "Environmental Sanitation," sponsored by the New England Water Works Ass'n and the New England Sewage Works Ass'n. Members of the session will make an inspection tour of Fort Devens tomorrow.

Discovery of two new influenza viruses, one of which is believed to have been partly responsible for the 1939 and 1940 epidemics, were discussed by Dr. Frank Horsfall, Jr., of Rockefeller Foundation, at the contagious diseases session.

"Lay Education on Cancer in New England" was reported on by Ira V. Hiscock, Sc.D., of Yale University School of Medicine, and other papers were read on public administration, maternal and child health and occupational hygiene.

Melrose Wife Killed By Student Driver

An automobile driving lesson in Franklin sq., Melrose, ended tragically with the death of a pedestrian, Mrs. Rebecca Grossman, 68, of Holbrook ct., Melrose.

The victim was crossing Main st. when struck down by a car driven, according to police, by Miss Conchetta Modica, 17, of Eaton st., Wakefield, who was taking a lesson from her brother, John. Police listed as other passengers their mother, Mrs. Michael Modica, and a sister, Josephine.

WPA Listing Homes For Defense Laborers

The drive to find skilled laborers for Massachusetts defense projects and also homes for them to live in was under way here today through a $124, 223 WPA grant.

Dennis W. Delaney, State WPA administrator, said the money would be spent by the Massachusetts State Planning Board in surveys. First work to be undertaken will be to list all vacant houses, apartments and rooms. Later the study will be extended to traffic improvements and labor.

German Catholics Advised to Pray For Nazi Victory

BERLIN, April 3 (AP)—German Catholics in several dioceses are admonished to pray for "victory in the German struggle for liberty" in the new prayerbooks containing for the first time special "war prayers."

A foreword asks the faithful to say prayers especially for "the protection of our courageous soldiers in the enemy's country."

Brighton Fire Rout 100 From Breakfasts

More than 100 persons, most of them just sitting down to breakfast, were routed today by a fire in a four-story apartment house at Linden and Gardner sts., Brighton. Flames, spreading through wall partitions and between floors, gave firemen a stubborn battle. Occupants of the large building were blinded by the dense smoke which filled apartments and corridors.

UNION RIFT MAY HELP END COAL STRIKE

NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—Differences between northern and southern bituminous coal operators were indicated today as the chief obstacle to an agreement with the United Mine Workers of America (CIO) and the end of the work stoppage which closed most of the nation's soft coal mines two days ago.

While there was no official word on the situation, it was learned reliably that the northern operators were in a mood to break away and sign separately on terms agreeable to the union, unless the operators find a common meeting ground within the next 10 hours.

The disagreement among operators centered around the question of wage differentials between northern and southern fields.

Resumption of negotiations, meanwhile, was delayed today as Dr. John R. Steelman, federal conciliator conferred with operator groups. When this session ended, none of the conferees would comment on their discussion or its outcome.

At the adjournment of union-operator negotiations last midnight, Steelman still clung to his belief that some sort of compromise, even if temporary, would bring resumption of work.

A.F.L. Back, CIO Still Out

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 3 (AP)—Production of shells for Great Britain was curtailed again today as CIO workers, who yesterday joined AFL men in a work stoppage at the American Car & Foundry Co. plant, refused to return to their jobs.

Carl W. Meier, executive committeeman of the CIO Steel Workers' Organizing Committee which claims 600 members, asserted the AFL Union has shown "it is too weak" to negotiate properly with the company, employing 1400.

The AFL called the stoppage yesterday because of what it contended was the firm's violation of a year's contract signed Jan. 20.

Lack of Material Shuts Defense Plant

BUTLER, Pa., April 3 (AP)—Operations of the American Bantam Car Corp. plant, which is turning out midsize reconnaissance cars for the Army, have been suspended because of lack of materials, President Francis H. Fenn reported today.

Fenn said that as a result of a strike of grinding and tool operators at the Hillsdale, Mich. plant of the Spicer Manufacturing Co., the Bantam plant was unable to obtain an adequate supply of certain parts to equip the cars.

NERVOUS FROM RESTLESS NIGHTS?

Is It Your Kidneys?

Active, normal-acting kidneys and bladder expel from the blood excess acids and poisons—that's their health-giving job.

If kidneys are sluggish or not active enough, these harmful acids and poisons may stay in the blood and cause much misery and distress, and bring on ill health in this regard.

For instance, lazy kidneys may make you nervous if they cause you to lose sleep because of getting up frequently at night. Also may cause dizzy spells, backache, leg cramps or swollen ankles.

Better try a 35-cent box of GOLD MEDAL Haslerin Oil Capsules—a real kidney stimulant that may do you a lot of good.

They have been helping people for scores of years to relieve their aches and pains when caused by lazy, sluggish kidneys.

But be sure and ask for and get Gold Medal Haslerin Oil Capsules—the genuine—pure and original. Don't be an easy mark and accept a cheap substitute—Look for the GOLD MEDAL on the box—the sign of purity—35 cents.

Detouring Blood to Brain May Cure Hard Arteries

NEW HAVEN, Ct., April 3 (AP)—
Two Yale professors today proposed "detouring" blood to the brain, when "main arteries have closed artificially, as a possible new treatment to overcome hardening of the arteries and cerebral thrombosis.

Describing their experiments on monkeys in the Yale journal of biology and medicine, Drs. William J. German and Max Telford said muscles at the side and back of the head might be used to "reroute" blood.

Human beings and monkeys have two separate arterial systems to the head, one inside and one outside the skull. When the inside blood-carrying system becomes defective, the doctors said, they found the outside artery could be grafted into operation by stopping the supply of blood from reaching the brain through the normal inner system and re-routing it through the outer.

They explained that the operation involved laying back a muscle, cutting out a piece of the skull, removing the membrane of the brain and grafting the muscle to the brain.

Within three weeks of operation on monkeys, they said, vessels forming between the muscle and brain took over the task ordinarily performed by the artery within the skull. Two years after their operations several of the monkeys were reported perfectly healthy.

GREEKS DOWN 2 PLANES

ATHENS, April 3 (INS)—Greek fighting planes and anti-aircraft batteries shot down two tri-motored Italian planes in combat over the Albanian war front, the Greek high command said today. The commu-cations also reported continued patrol and artillery activity.

Italians Expected To Relieve Nazi Troops in France

VICHY, France, April 3 (AP)—
Rumors persisted here today that Italian troops will relieve many units of the German army of occupation in France, freeing the Germans for service elsewhere. An unconfirmed report said barracks were being prepared in Paris for the Italians.

STUDENT AMNESIA VICTIM

BRATTLEBORO, Vt., April 3
(AP)—Believed by police to be the victim of amnesia, Thorborn R.
Clerk, 18, of Pearl river, N. Y., a student at Mount Hermon School, Northfield, Mass., was kept in a hospital today at the request of school authorities.

CANADA SEES U. S. RULE IN SEAWAY PLAN

Even Canadians, those who stand to profit the most by the proposed St. Lawrence seaway, today attacked President Roosevelt's pet project as "the first step toward annexation" of Canada by the United States.

Joining New England shippers, business leaders and industrialists, opposition leader Maurice Duplasis of Quebec told the legislative assembly there that the seaway is a Roosevelt move to take over Canada.

"It is an encouragement for annexation," he declared. "And I say that the province of Quebec had greater liberty under the flag of the British empire than it ever would under the Stars and Stripes.

Premier Adolphe Godbout, who supported the project, pointed out that Germany and Italy may declare war on the United States and sew value of the big canal if the war lasts for 10 years.

"If the United States gets into the war and it lasts for 10 years," Godbout said, "it might be our own continent we will have to defend and then the canal would be very valuable."

Double Rites For Relatives In Dorchester

How a Dorchester man and his son-in-law died an hour and a half apart was recent fact. As arrangements were made for the double funeral.

Members of the family of Frank Ryan, 42, of Edwin st., Dorchester, had been called to his bedside in the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital Tuesday and were there when he died.

The family had hardly returned to the Edwin st. home when Ryan's father-in-law, Timothy J. Quinn, 77, a resident of the same house, also died, of a heart illness.

Quinn, born in Ireland, had lived in Boston for more than 50 years. He had been in the leather business, but had retired more than 20 years ago.

Surviving Quinn and Ryan are Mrs. Margaret Ryan, who is both Quinn's daughter and Ryan's wife. Surviving daughters of Quinn are Mrs. May Olinney, Mrs. Jennie Green, Miss Nora and Miss Helen Quinn. Sons of Quinn are James, John, and William.

Frank was born in Boston, attended public schools including English High school, and was employed as a clerk in the Boston City Hall.

Funeral services for both will be from the Edwin st. residence at 9 a. m. Double burial will be in New Calvary cemetery.

Hub Socialites To Cuba Bridal

Prominent Bostonians today were on their way to attend the wedding of Victor Schueg-Bacardi to Miss Maria Louise Menocal at Havana on April 14.

The bridegroom-to-be, a member of the famed Bacardi rum family of Cuba, is well known in greater Boston by virtue of the fact that he attended Pomfret School, Worcester Academy, Harvard and Tufts Colleges, and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

He was married to the former Eleanor Hoffman, Smith College graduate and daughter of Jacques Hoffman, famed first violinist of the Boston Symphony Orchestra. They were divorced and the former Miss Hoffman now is Mrs. Alston C. Tripp.

Schueg-Bacardi is now a rancher at Santiago, Cuba.

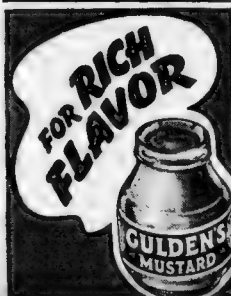

Among the guests at the wedding will be his brother, Jorge, also well known in Greater Boston, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Lucia Nielson, wife of Dr. Edwin Nielsen of Montvale rd., Newton.

Brothers Sentenced In WPA Pay Fraud

Three Stoneham brothers, all contractors, were placed under a year's probation in U. S. court today on an indictment charging they made false WPA payroll claims totalling $1300.

The trio, Charles J. Rotundi, 35, Albert K. Rotundi, 30 and Arthur J. Rotundi, 32, were charged with having paid their laborers less than the prescribed rate of 55 cents an hour, while entering the full amount on the payroll.

Judge Hugh D. McLellan allowed probation after learning the men had made full restitution.

Nazis Recall Envoys; War Is Seen Sure

der was unexpected were seen in the fact that last night the staff members had been making extensive preparations to barricade themselves in the legation if war came.

READY FOR SIEGE

Large supplies of food had been stored in the building and firearms and ammunition were concealed there.

"We worked out a scheme to defend ourselves," one legation member said, "during the brief period while our troops were crossing the frontier and capturing Belgrade."

German circles here predicted that Belgrade would be in the hands of the Nazis within 48 hours after their troops crossed the Yugoslav frontier.

Whether the Yugoslav general staff would elect to defend the capital in event of an attempted invasion remained a military secret. Yugoslav warplanes circled over the city constantly, however.

German quarters declared frankly that recall of the legation staff to Berlin "carries grave implications of the inevitability of war breaking out soon."

As news that the German diplomats were leaving spread, envoys of other nations hastened to their offices to keep in close touch with the rapidly developing situation.

"WAR NOT INEVITABLE"

Officials of the Italian legation said preparations for evacuation of the staff already had been made, but declared no orders to leave the country had been received from Rome.

A Fascist spokesman expressed belief that despite the gravity of the situation "war is not inevitable," and said the Italians still were "seeking some basis on which to establish contact between the Italian and Yugoslav governments."

Replying to the German "atrocities" charges, the Yugoslav newspaper Politika declared today.

"The only answer we can make to these charges is to remain calm and strong in our unity, and prepare ourselves to defend our independence, integrity and freedom."

The Yugoslav Army of 1,200,000 men, meanwhile, was being held ready for any emergency and it appeared that the nation would stand solidly behind the government should war come.

Observers agreed the outlook was more serious than at any time since last Thursday, when young King Peter II and his military advisers selected the agency government which had joined the Berlin-Rome-Tokyo Alliance.

The order recalling the German legation staff was received by Dr. Gert Feine, the young charge d'affaires, in a coded telegram from Berlin.

ROUTS CLERKS FROM BEDS

Dr. Feine, who has been in charge of the legation since Minister Viktor von Heesent went to Berlin earlier this week to report, immediately routed 50 clerks and attaches from their beds and ordered them to pack.

Some of the clerks at once set about burning legation documents.

The newly appointed governor of the Banat area, the most polyglot part of Yugoslavia with a mixed population of Serbs, Croats, Hungarians, Rumanians and Slovaks, issued a declaration saying he expected sacrifices and discipline on the part of all citizens.

The government, apparently attempting to avoid any direct affront to the Germans, issued a brief but firm denial last night of the Nazi "atrocities" charges.

Disclosures that Yugoslav defense measures included the secret sowing of mines along the Adriatic coast came last night when two Yugoslav passenger ships, hastening home in fear of a sudden outbreak of hostilities, ran into mine fields and were sunk.

The vessels, which went down in the Bay of Onavac, were the 1293-ton Karadjordje and the 1729-ton Prestolonaslednik Petar. No loss of life was reported.

The leader of the German minority of 513,000, most of whom reside in the Banat area, was said to have conferred with Premier Simovic yesterday for the second time this week.

NEW BERLIN WARNING IN SLAV CRISIS

By PIERRE J. HUSS

International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, April 3 (INS)—The German-Yugoslav crisis is growing "gloomier," official German quarters frankly admitted today.

At the same time they accused the Belgrade government of keeping the Yugoslav people in the dark regarding the "gravity of events" and proclaimed:

"Our tolerance will come to an end."

A spokesman for the propaganda ministry said orders had been sent to all German diplomatic and consular representatives in Yugoslavia to return home. Sole exception was the military attache and charge d'affaires, who will remain in Belgrade for the time being.

The spokesman said this recall was merely a precautionary measure and did not signify an immediate diplomatic break between Berlin and Belgrade.

But Wilhelmstrasse quarters, in tones of grim forboding, said there was no ground for optimism and that anti-German developments in Yugoslavia were growing "out of bounds."

These same quarters charged that Yugoslavian diplomatic representatives, particularly in southeastern Europe, were sponsoring an anti-German campaign and that the Belgrade government is "allowing and encouraging interference by British and American diplomats."

AMERICANS TELL OF NIGHT IN NAZI CELLS

BERLIN, April 3 (AP)—Four United States citizens living in Berlin were arrested last night but were released later.

They were John Paul Dickson of the Chicago Tribune and Mutual Broadcasting System; Arthur K. Dunning, secretary of the American Chamber of Commerce; New York Negro music student identified as John Welsh, and a Californian whose name was not disclosed.

Dunning, a native of Bath, Me., had lived in Berlin for 50 years. Dickson appeared at the regular noon press conference and told his colleagues:

"I lay in a police cell until 3 a. m. It was a room with 25 beds. Finally an officer came to the door and said: 'Dickson, get up and dress.'"

"I was handed back my pen-knife and nail file and set free. My papers were not inspected and nothing was touched. I was the first of the Americans in this cell let loose. I certainly am glad to get out."

No reason was given Dickson for his seizure. Dunning was freed after two hours.

"The Berlin police went to considerable trouble just taking down my personal data and that of my family," Dunning said. "They put once more went through the regular questioning and filling out of blank forms usually required for foreigners residing in the Reich."

Dunning said he had come home at 5:15 p. m. last night. "I still had my coat on" when two officers from the local police station came to the house and took him along to their station and later in the subway to the Alexanderplatz headquarters.

He said police officials were nice throughout but that they had no explanation of the short detention except for meticulously recording personal data which he had given many times before.

BATH, Me., April 3 (AP)—Arthur Dunning, who was under arrest two hours last night in Berlin, where he has lived since American Chamber of Commerce secretary many years, was born and grew up in this Maine shipbuilding city.

For a short time after his schooling was completed here, Dunning was assistant secretary of the Y. M. C. A., then went to New York and later to Germany.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start aching backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep, and energy, getting up at night, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sensations when urinating are warning signs with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Kidney Pills, and soon you'll be free from your 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous acids from the blood. Laborite Urges Plowing Astor Estate for Garden

LONDON, April 3 (AP)—A suggestion for plowing up the 300-acre front yard of the Cliveden estate of Lord and Lady Astor was injected into a House of Commons discussion today. Agriculture Minister Robert Hudson had warned there was bound to be a meat shortage "because of claims (on shipping) of the Middle East campaign."

William Leach, laborite, immediately inquired about the Thames-side Cliveden estate, asking if Hudson would "take action in the case of a Buckinghamshire mansion where a head gardener and 15 gardeners are employed, where no efforts to grow foodstuffs except for the house were made, and where flowerbeds were camouflaged with intergrown lettuce."

Torch Suspect In Lowell Court

LOWELL, April 3—The "person unknown" who made a living torch of Vernon Livingstone of Tewksbury last March 13, was alleged by police here today to be Harold J. Gath, 20, of Chandler st., Tewksbury, a WPA worker.

The incident itself was not revealed at all until March 20, when police filed a complaint against a "person unknown" stating that Livingstone, 30 years old, had been working on a WPA project at a sandpile on March 13 when someone poured gasoline on his clothes and set fire to them. He was badly burned.

Today police broke the case by bringing Gath into court here before Judge Patrick J. Reynolds, charging him with assault and intent to maim and deface his fellow worker.

Gath pleaded not guilty, and the case was continued to April 10. He was released on his own recognizance.

British Seize 2 More Towns

CAIRO, April 3 (AP)—British advance troops in Ethiopia have captured Mieso, on the Addis Ababa-Jibuti railway about 180 miles east of the Ethiopian capital, the British middle east command announced today.

In North Africa, the British command announced its troops in Libya had withdrawn to positions north of Agedavia and that this movement was followed up by Axis mechanized forces. Agedavia is about 80 miles northeast of Agheila and a short distance inland.

The capture of Mieso carried the British almost a third of the way to Addis Ababa from Dire-dawa, where they first cut the rail lifeline leading to Jibuti on the Gulf of Aden in French Somaliland.

Nairobi, announced the capture of Soroppa, in the Yavello sector of southern Ethiopia, after a four-hour battle and the seizure of 700 camels by troops mopping up in eastern Italian Somaliland.

10 NAZI SEAMEN REFUSE SABOTAGE PLEA IN HUB COURT

Arraigned under heavy guard today in federal court on sabotage indictments, 10 German seamen of the seized tanker Pauline Friedrich were held in a total of $150,000 bail after they had refused to plead.

From Capt. Ernst Rudolf Heitzmann down, the Nazi mariners stood mute as to formal plea, although each repeated, some in English and some in German, to the three indictment charges:

"I do not wish to plead at all."

With an assertion that there is "a grave possibility that these men may not be available when wanted," U. S. Atty. Edmund J. Brundage asked that Judge Hugh D. McEllen fix substantial bail.

The federal prosecutor suggested a figure between $25,000 and $50,000, but Judge McEllen fixed the bail of Capt. Heitzmann at $25,000, with surety, on the conspiracy complaint and $20,000 each on the other two complaints, but without surety.

HIGH BAIL SET

For the other four officers of the Pauline Friedrich, and the five members of the crew, Judge McEllen set $10,000 bail on the conspiracy charge, with surety, and $10,000 each on the other two indictments, without surety.

The indictments, returned yesterday by the federal grand jury, charge conspiracy to tamper lawfully with the vessel's motive power and navigation instrumentalities, aiding and abetting, and the actual tampering.

Three hours before the arraignment on the 15th floor of the federal building, the 10 seamen were moved from East Boston immigration station in a van to the offices of U. S. Marshal J. Henry Goguen.

Here Capt. Heitzmann, who was a warrant officer on the German sea raider Wolf during the World War, was placed in a cell alone.

The other nine Nazis were divided among three cells.

While awaiting court, each one was taken out individually and fingerprinted and catalogued by the marshal's staff.

Here also the German consul, Dr. Herbert Scholz, and Atty. John C. Johnston visited the prisoners and conferred with them.

Meanwhile the marshal's office was guarded, and other guards patrolled the corridors of the 15th floor.

When the consul arrived, the prisoners sprang to their feet in the cells, gave the Nazi salute with a:

"Heil Hitler."

GUARD COURTROOM

The seamen were taken from the marshal's office into the 15th floor courtroom in manacles and under guard.

Capt. Heitzmann was handcuffed to his chief officer, Bernhard H. Hempen, while the others trailed along, manacled in pairs.

Guards were at the courtroom doors when the hearing was opened with the arrival of Judge McEllen. Atty. Johnston waived reading of the long indictments and said as Heitzmann was called to plead:

"In this case, as in all other cases, the defendant stands mute."

The court insisted, however, that Clerk William DeWan put the question as to plea on each of the three indictments in each case. Then Capt. Heitzmann replied, to each:

"I do not wish to plead at all."

His response was in English, as were those of Chief Officer Hempen, Chief Engineer August Logen, Second Officer August Wilhelm Danmann and Second Engineer Karl Wilhelm Ehries.

DAMAGE INSPECTED

While the 10 seamen were in court, two marine surveyors, working for the United States Maritime Commission, began an inspection of damage done aboard the Pauline Friedrich and the Italian freighter Dino, both of which were seized by the Coast Guard under national orders from President Roosevelt.

This inspection was looked upon as the first probable step toward taking over of the seized vessels by the United States government under the 1917 Espionage Act.

It just Breathes a little Deeper and Wades In!

EVER stop to figure why Nature gave you both a nose and a mouth to breathe through?

Your nose, barring colds, does all right for ordinary purposes.

But go up against some heavy exercise—and you can open up your mouth as well and increase the intake of oxygen.

Your 1941 Buick with Compound Carburetion* works something like that.

Its "nose," which is the forward one of your two thrift-size carburetors, does a grand job of supplying "breath" for your engine on normal jobs.

But when the time comes that your engine has to dig in for a tough pull or a burst of power, then your extra foot-pressure on the gas treadle opens up the "mouth" and your engine "breathes" through two carburetors.

Simple, isn't it? Yet look what happens:

Your engine always consumes gas according to the need.

By simply taking it easy when easy does it and breathing deep when the work piles up, your power plant gets as much as 10% to 15% more mileage from the same gasoline.

That, in these days, is nothing to be sneezed at.

So why don't you get the whole story from your Buick dealer?

Nazi Ship Toll Peak Claimed

BERLIN, April 3 (AP)—German battleships and submarines operating in the Atlantic sank 367,800 tons of merchant vessels from March 16 to 23, informed circles reported today, in one of the heaviest series of blows yet claimed against British shipping.

Coupled with this report, the high command announced that German and Italian troops had scored new land successes in North Africa with the recapture of Agelabia, in northwestern Libya, and a drive to Zuetina on the Mediterranean coast.

"The foe is on a hasty retreat northward," the communique said, adding that a number of prisoners had been taken along with a "considerable amount of booty, including arms and more than 1,000 motor vehicles."

GENERAL WEATHER CONDITIONS

The Atlantic disturbance moved eastward, and cloudiness over New England gradually diminished. Only a few high scattered to broken clouds remain over the Cape Cod section, and these will clear today. The weather will be fair tonight and Friday. A cold front will cross the New England coast Saturday afternoon as a harbinger of a disturbance, now over Kansas, that is expected to move eastward and cause light rain over New England by Saturday. No temperature change of importance are anticipated in New England in the next 36 hours. Showers and thunderstorm activity is taking place in the lower Mississippi Valley, while intermittent light rain is occurring in the middle and upper Mississippi Valley and in the Central Plains States. A cold front falling in the Pacific Coast. Temperatures are abnormally high in the lower Mississippi Valley and Southern Plains States. Ninety-four degrees was reported at Laredo yesterday afternoon.

British Down Junkers Raider

LONDON, April 3 (INS)—A new daylight air raid alarm sounded in the British capital shortly after noon today following reports that enemy raiders were flying over East Anglia. The all-clear signal sounded half an hour later.

During the morning British fighters shot down a German Junkers plane into the English Channel. During the night, however, Britain enjoyed another respite from Nazi air attacks.

A few raiders appeared over a southwest coast town last night, but dropped no bombs.

Berlin announced a German patrol vessel shot down one of several British Bristol-Blenheim bombers which attempted to raid German patrol lines in the North sea yesterday afternoon.—Editor's note.

British Bristol-Blenheim bombers scored direct hits on an armed merchant vessel off the Dutch coast yesterday and when last seen the ship was sinking, the air ministry announced today. Direct hits also were observed on another armed merchant ship.

Axis Pilots Claim 6 Ships Sunk

ROME, April 3 (AP)—German and Italian planes, using torpedoes and bombs, sank six ships in two convoys in the eastern Mediterranean and probably sank a seventh, Italy's high command announced today.

Abandonment of Asmara, capital of Eritrea, Italy's only colony, was admitted by the high command, which said Fascist forces had retired from the city to save it from further bombardment.

Several hundred members of the Eritrean Italian population already had been killed by British bombing.

The troops were declared to have taken up new defense positions.

McCormack Expects F.D. To Bear Down on Strikes

WASHINGTON, April 3 (AP)—Rep. John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, House Democratic leader, agreed with a questioner on the House floor today that it was "about time" for President Roosevelt to speak out on the defense strike situation.

The exchange came shortly after Stephen T. Early, White House secretary, told reporters that the President was "waiting and watching" the situation.

McCormack took the floor after criticism by Rep. Taber (R.) of New York, and C.D. of Georgia, of the administration's attitude toward strikes.

"I'm satisfied that he (the President) will bear down—in a constitutional way," McCormack replied.

"Labor in general are not in-crates and when the President speaks, as I believe he will, labor will respond to his leadership."

"Doesn't the gentleman think it's about time for him to speak?" interrupted Rep. Woodrum (D.) of Virginia.

"Yes," McCormack replied, amid applause.

Acting promptly after the House authorized it yesterday to conduct a broad investigation of the defense program, the House military committee voted to begin the work Monday. Members said the inquiry would include strikes affecting the defense program.

Chairman May (D.) of Kentucky, said the committee would call as its first witnesses Clarence A. Dykstra, chairman of the new National Defense Mediation Board; William S. Knudsen, defense production chief, and his associate, Sidney Hillman, and Sec. Perkins. May promised "the best damn investigation the House has ever had."

Rep. Vinson (D.) of Georgia said after a White House call that he had discussed with Mr. Roosevelt the House-approved investigations of the general defense situation.

Salary Check Sent to Lyons

City Auditor John McKenzie of Cambridge has settled the argument over who would get Mayor John W. Lyons' salary by making the check out to Lyons, it was learned today.

The check, calling for $625 for the month of March—fifteenth month which saw Lyons and Paul Manos, Brookline contractor, sentenced to five to six years for alleged bribery—is understood to have been mailed to him at Miami Beach.

The check was drawn to Lyons' order, and was approved by acting Mayor Francis L. Sennott, following an opinion by City Solicitor Richard C. Everts that Lyons still holds the position, although he has agreed not to function pending his appeal to Supreme Court.

FORD STRIKE PEACE TALK POSTPONED

successful mediation" of the strike. "Both the company and union officials have made definite and binding commitments to me to meet certain basic requirements for mediation," the Governor declared in a formal press statement.

Coincident with the governor's announcement, James F. Dewey, ace mediator for the automobile industry, left his downtown hotel headquarters for a personal inspection of the situation at the factory.

He said he hoped to meet with Ford officials and get a start on the conference which was postponed this morning.

ALL GATES PICKETED

United Automobile Workers (CIO) pickets were in evidence at all gates of the company, but there was no barricading of streets in the area, a means by which strikers kept employees from approaching the plant yesterday.

State police said today the union had agreed to permit construction workers employed by sub-contractors on an aircraft engine factory being constructed within the Rouge plant, to reach their jobs.

In this engine plant initial production on a defense order for Pratt and Whitney airplane engines is scheduled for some time in June.

At Gate 4—scene of yesterday's riot and of a serious riot in 1937—there were 24 State Police lined up across the gate today. Behind them were Ford service men. Outside the gate a picket line stretching a block in each direction marched endlessly.

5000 QUIT PLANT

One man who tried to enter the gate, only to be turned back by the service men, was severely beaten by assailants who left the picket line to intercept him as he was leaving. The injured man, who was then taken in through the gate to the plant hospital, was said to be a timekeeper.

Some 5000 persons, most of them Negroes, left the plant during the night and only about 200 were in evidence this morning. One picket was struck, but not seriously hurt, by a galvanized bucket tossed from the plant roof.

Capt. Laurence Lyon of state police instructed the pickets to stop their practice of halting approaching automobiles and demanding identification of occupants. In vehement tones he informed the leader of the pickets that that was the business of the state police.

Under a union-company agreement with Van Wagoner, Dewey said, about 1500 office workers, including stenographers, payroll clerks and administrative help, were called to return to work this morning.

18 Red Strike Plotters Watched in Capital

By WILLIAM S. NEAL

International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 3—Growing conviction among highest officials in Washington that a sinister radical plot to slow up rearmament is behind many strikes was revealed today, with the result that President Roosevelt may order drastic curative action in the near future.

Evidence that Communists and "fellow travelers" are fomenting strikes and slow-downs which have paralyzed part of the program has been discussed by Mr. Roosevelt and his advisers, it was revealed on high authority.

Mr. Roosevelt, one of his important advisers said, will wait 10 days before "cracking down" in the hope that mediation can remedy the situation.

Some responsible defense officials, however, took the view that while ordinary labor disputes—even of great magnitude can be settled by mediation only drastic governmental action can halt communistic activity.

First public declaration that a widespread Communist plot both to instigate strikes and to foment bloodshed and riots in disputes with which they have nothing to do, was made by Rep. Dies (D.), chairman of the un-American activities committee.

"Our investigators have indisputable evidence that Communists are directing a plot to prevent the nation from arming," said Dies.

The evidence of a radical conspiracy which was discussed by Mr. Roosevelt and advisers, it was stated, came from other governmental sources, presumably from J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

One tactic being employed, an administration official said, is the "walking sit down" which is, in effect, a slow down strike. Through concerted effort, a small group in a "choke" department of an industry will slow down their work to a point where an entire plant's production is curtailed. This has been done in some airplane factories, it was said.

The chief weapon, however, according to both Dies Committee investigators and defense officials, is calling of a strike in an industry which supplies vital parts to many industries.

A strike in a plant producing ferro-vanadium slowed up activity of 15 aircraft factories using the material. The Allis-Chalmers and other strikes held up expansion of power plants needed for aluminum production.

Officials of the Tennessee Valley Authority, rushing construction of new plants to produce aluminum, reported that inability to get turbines is slowing up its program. Work on five power plants in the Far West also is being held up.

Ex-Red Says Communist Aim Is Civil War in U. S.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 3 (AP)—The second self-styled ex-Communist to testify at the Harry Bridges deportation hearing declared it was a Communist aim to foster strikes paralyze industry and thus create civil war in America.

The witness, Ezra Chase of Los Angeles, testified he joined the party in 1931 and left it twice.

Department of Justice attorneys contended Bridges is deportable under the 1940 Alien Registration Act, as a member or ex-member of organizations advocating violent overthrow of the government.

Chase said he was instructed by a Communist leader in 1937 to attend a meeting of labor leaders, including some from the AFL Unions, in which he was active, and some Communists, at which Bridges "told us the line to follow" in connection with the AFL and CIO. He said Bridges advised AFL unions to elect delegates to labor councils and national conventions who were friendly to the CIO.

The witness testified that the Communists were interested in strikes "which could lead to paralyzing the industry of a nation and possibly could be converted into civil war."

"Our purpose," he continued, "was to convert the AFL from a craft type to an industrial type union and to push the organization further to the left, so that the American labor movement could be used as a revolutionary force."

Earlier Benjamin Gitlow, former general secretary of the Communist International, who was expelled in 1929, said the Communist party considered the ballot box an illusion and had declared war against the "entire bourgeois world."

THE modern corporation should hang out a new shingle, and describe itself as unofficial "tax collector" for government.

Some companies occupy a dual role in the revenue collecting field.

They conceal part of the taxes in the cost of goods and services, on the one hand, and also act as a mere intermediary between their customers and government, on the other.

The Telegraph and Telephone companies both pay taxes DIRECTLY, and also COLLECT SPECIAL EXCISES LEVIED ON THEIR CUSTOMERS.

The vendors of gasoline also do so.

Whatever method is used, the rising cost of governmental overhead is becoming a growing factor in the price at which goods and services are marketed.

In other words, increased taxes deprive customers of at least part of the benefits of elimination of economic waste in present day business.

Likewise, the increased hunger of government for taxes prevents assigning to employees in higher pay the full fruits of heightened efficiency in corporate management.

And, needless to say, the growing "take" of government out of the gross receipts of business reduces the fund available for distribution to stockholders as dividends or to workers as wages.

TO UNDERSTAND THIS pick up any of the current annual corporate reports and the nature of the dangerous trend toward partial "socialization" of private enterprise will be discernible.

Taxes directly paid by the Western Union Telegraph Company, for example, in 1940 took about 62 CENTS OUT OF EVERY DOLLAR of net earnings before taxes, whereas in 1929 all taxes, including income taxes, took ONLY 24 CENTS.

These dramatic comparisons help to explain why "depression" appears to have become the new normal in the United States.

With the added cost of national defense and aid to the democracies, the deleterious process may well be heightened, instead of alleviated.

In the circumstances, the national welfare requires absorbing as much as possible of the new armament cost in far-reaching economies in the REGULAR expenditures of government, national, state or local.

Otherwise, the present trend toward confiscation will seriously impair the tools and power equipment on which 30,000,000 AMERICAN FAMILIES rely for their improved material well-being.

The very facilities which produce high American standards of living in time of peace are likewise needed to provide the sinews of defense in time of war.

Unless the cost of government can be reduced, the national economic strength, on which all the people depend, WILL BE PERMANENTLY SAPPED.

And make no mistake of the fact that this trend represents RETROGRESSION, not PROGRESS.

EVERYBODY KNOWS that there is an abundance of truth and wisdom in the old Arabian proverb which says:

"The mouse that has but one hole is soon caught."

If that proverb means anything to Americans of today it means BUILD THE NICARAGUA CANAL!

We are a nation with only one escape from the Atlantic into the Pacific, or vice versa.

The bottling up or destruction of the Panama Canal might mean a giant catastrophe for our country.

A canal across Nicaragua would make the country feel one hundred per cent safer in case of war.

Billions are being spent for defense.

But why in those billions is there no provision for the most obvious necessity of the day—the Nicaragua Canal?

It has been estimated that the canal could be built for $725,000,000.

That is now merely small change to us; we'd never miss it.

We are told the Panama Canal is "impregnable." Nothing is "impregnable" nowadays.

The Board of Army Engineers, headed by Brigadier General D. I. Sultan, reported a few years ago that—

"Since the construction of the canal at Panama the weapons of attack against canal structures, particularly the airplane, have increased in power, in effectiveness and in the strategic element of surprise. The Panama Canal is not invulnerable now, as it was at the time of its completion."

If that was true then, it is still true now—more so, in fact.

We need two lifelines—two mouse-holes.

What has been sadly lacking in the last seven years in our defense preparations (if any) has been FORESIGHT.

That foresight is still lacking—for we have made no provision for a second canal when the necessity for an alternative route between the Atlantic and Pacific is as obvious as the necessity for duplicate keys to your house door.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

MY DAY

WASHINGTON, Wednesday — After returning to the train on Monday afternoon the President and I had a chance to catch up on the details of his fishing trip.

I found that he was very proud that he had been able to prove that trolling from the Potomac was not only possible, but very profitable! I also discovered that the party had some rather rough days, and that one of the chief sufferers, a small dog named Fala, kept his master awake most of one night!

Fala, however, seemed to have forgotten whatever hardships he had been through, and he greeted me as warmly as any other member of the party. He jumped up on the sofa beside me and demanded a great deal of attention.

AS THE TRAIN pulled out of the Ft. Bragg area they fired the President's salute, and Fala stood with his paws on the window of the back door of the car, and as each gun went off he sniffed the air as much as to say: "What new thing is happening that I don't understand?"

They tell me he enjoyed the fishing trip very much when it was smooth, and as soon as the President would say "Catch a fish now," his ears would perk up, and he would stand expectantly waiting for a fish to be landed. Then, as it flopped on the deck, he would retire a few feet, gather his courage and dash up to inspect it, only to retreat with the next flop. This was an amusement for Fala, perhaps, but as far as I could find out it was much more amusement for all the men on board.

The President, Miss Thompson and I had dinner together and everyone went to bed fairly early.

FIRST LADY RECEIVES GIFT OF FLOWERS

Miss Helene Zimmerman of Miami and Mrs. Roosevelt

Our son, Jimmy, was down at the station to greet us yesterday morning and soon after breakfast at the White House, Franklin, Jr., came in. He and Jimmy had lunch with their father and I got what glimpses I could of them in the intervals between a press conference and an hour spent at the National Women's Democratic Club. At the opening of an "Information Course."

I TALKED for a little while on the place of women in defense and then answered questions for the remainder of the time. Mrs. Thomas McAllister was there, back in Washington for the newspaper women's stunt party last night. She drove back with me and so we had a few minutes of quiet talk.

Then Miss Winifred C. Cullis, an English acquaintance who had stayed with us some years ago in Albany, N. Y., came to lunch with several other friends.

At two o'clock, Franklin, Jr., left again by plane for New York city as he goes to Boston tomorrow to report on Thursday aboard the destroyer to which he has been assigned.

He and Jimmy and I were talking about the uncertainties as to the length of service in the reserves, and I was interested to find how calmly they are taking the need for adjustment to whatever situations may have to be faced. It is the kind of spirit we must all develop and I rather think the younger generation is going to be better in doing it than their elders.

By E. V. DURLING

MARSHAL VON KEITEL, chief of the German general staff said not long ago: "The British have only one good general, Wavell, but he is very, very good." Wavell is the British general the Germans will have to face in the Balkans. He has been described as "the most resourceful commander of modern armies in the world."

CONFIDENTIAL: Note one Bernice Montgomery, a writer, described as "a pale, honeyish blonde." How many kinds of blondes are there? . . . What are the 12 cleverest advertising slogans now in use? Would you consider for one nomination that candy manufacturer's slogan: "I Can't Make All the Candy in the World So I Try to Make the Best of It"? . . . A woman's age shows most in her hands. But many women do not seem to realize this . . . That ditty of the year "Side by Side" seems to be fondly remembered by many of the married who have written in about it. It is a good song for a young married pair to sing, especially the part that goes: When they've all had their troubles and parted, We'll be the same as we started, And we'll travel the road, Sharing our load, Side by side.

PASSING BY: C. B. MacDonald. Film theater management genius. Once an actor, Mr. MacDonald played Simon Legree in "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Of all the actors you have seen play Simon Legree, whom do you consider the best; the one you most loved to hate? And how would you cast "Uncle Tom's Cabin" if you could have for some any of the stars in Hollywood? How about Edward G. Robinson for Simon Legree? And Clarence Muse for Uncle Tom? I will have to give some further consideration to my choice for Little Eva.

PLEASE NOTE: "When the Grown-Up Ladies Talk Like Babies." That was title of an old song. Why do women magazine writers continue to talk like babies using such words as "nighties," "hankies" and "panties"? In all fairness I ask you, doesn't it sound ridiculous when an adult female gushes: "Oh, dear me, I forgot my hankie" . . . Three times as many boys stutter as girls. But men of science don't seem to know why this is. Fellows who stutter are usually great wits. Joe Frisco, for example. Also, the late "Tiny" Maxwell, the football official.

DIETRICH LOSES
F. D. R. HAT

Marlene Dietrich

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK, April 3—Eric von Stroheim, who plays the Menace in the touring company of "Arsenic and Old Lace," was distracted throughout the opening performance on the road last week by hissing sounds which came from all sides of the theater. Von Stroheim became completely unnerved, despite the manager's assurance that audience hissing must be considered as complimentary to his talents, "because don't forget—you're playing a heavy." The hissing sounds came from the steam pipes which suddenly had been turned on. . . . Melvyn Douglas and Edward G. Robinson, who bid $3200 for FDR's campaign hat, to prevent the hat from being worn by Marlene Dietrich in her new picture, will present that hat to the Roosevelt Library at Hyde Park. . . . One of the featured players in "Watch on the Rhine" rode a tricycle up and down the car throughout the entire train trip last week-end when the cast came into New York.

JOHN P. MARQUAND, the Pulitzer Prize novelist and author of "H. M. Pulham, Esq.," posed recently in Boston for a series of photos. The cameraman suggested that one of the pictures should show the author standing on the steps of St. Botolph's Club, which is hallowed by New England tradition. Marquand reported this to the officers of the club, who decided to let the members determine the question of whether a photographer be permitted to take a picture there. . . . "I'm afraid the members won't stand for it," Marquand was told. "But you belong to the Tavern Club. Why don't you have the picture taken there?" . . . "At the Tavern Club?" Marquand replied—as if he had been asked to deflower New England. "I wouldn't dream of asking them."

DAVID ROCKEFELLER, youngest son of John D. Jr., has succeeded to Byrnes MacDonald's job in the Mayor's secretariat. . . . Gertrude Lawrence's trip to London will be for three and a half weeks. Her return reservations are booked for late in July. . . . Harry Langdon, the rad-faced comic who has been breaking in his comeback routines at the Majestic Theater in Paterson, played the show, although his son, Harry Langdon, Jr., had to be rushed to the Bartlett Memorial Hospital there.

PROF. GIFFORD of Columbia, the arbitrator between Massine and the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, will announce his decision that Massine's unsigned contract for ten years is valid and effective. One of the expected results of this ruling will be the merger of the two ballets—the Ballet Russe and the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo. . . . Frédéric March will play the minister role in Warners' "One Foot in Heaven." . . . The head waiter in a famed Paris cafe wrote to his brother here about the new all-Nazi clientele to which he now must cater. "They pay like Princes," he reported, "and eat like pigs." . . . Paramount is trying to get Ginger Rogers for "Lady in the Dark."

DONU EDMOND, society beautician, went to Fort Dix and made this suggestion to Major Knight: "I am willing to give every Army hostess here at the fort a complete glamour treatment from head to foot. When I finish, each hostess will look almost like Joan Bennett, Ingrid Bergman and Hedy LaMarr." . . . Major Knight shook his head and rejected the plan. . . . "But think," the beautician protested, "think of the effect on morale!" . . . "I'm thinking of morale," Major Knight explained, "and just on account of the morale we don't want our hostesses to look like Joan Bennett, Ingrid Bergman or Hedy LaMarr."

IF HARRY HOPKINS decides that his health won't permit his taking the job of directing the Emergency Office Management, it will go to either Bill Bullitt or LaGuardia. LaGuardia may be persuaded to take the job if it has legislative powers. . . . David Morse, who was regional counselor to the NLRB, is slated for the job of Impartial Chairman of the Milk Industry. . . . The Nat'l Variety Artists' Benefit Show this year is at Manhattan Center April 20. . . . Jack Gifford of "Meet the People" starts working at Cafe Society Uptown on Friday.

GINGER ROGERS

THE SENIOR LIVING MEMBER of the Pat Rooney dynasty gave a preview performance last night at the Latin Quarter. . . . At the same time, Pat's presence revealed that he has been booked for a two-week engagement at the Winchester Street Club beginning Sunday.

UNTIL PAT'S INTRODUCTION by Harry Spear and the immediate response stepped out in three-four time by the clogging Mr. Rooney, the Latin Quarter's management had bottled up all news of the Rooney man's impending appearance.

ACCORDINGLY, IT WAS POSSIBLE to interpret Pat's unexpected appearance as a new wrinkle in exploitation. . . . The preview dodge has been worked—and perhaps overworked—by the movies.

BUT LURING A LIVING ACTOR out of New York four days ahead of his scheduled appearance, is another matter. . . . The records fail to show a precedent for such a happening in a nightclub. . . . Anyhow—Pat was here. . . . He's still here in fact, and in line with an emotional wave of good-fellowship which seemed to have gripped the local Rialto today, Pat will be present tonight to greet Kitty Brando when the former mistress of the Brown Derby opens her new Embassy Room at the Fritz-Carlton.

NEARLY ALL THE BOSTON band-leaders, and many of the chorists of the downtown clubs, by the way, plan to be present at Miss Brando's premiere tonight. . . . Mickey Alpert will head a delegation from the Coconut Grove, for instance, and, in return, Kitty will hop back to the Grove to take a bow at the weekly "guest night" of the noted bistro.

TO GET BACK TO PAT, who is admitting to sixty years of happy existence in this troubled planet. . . . Mr. Rooney is the same infectious personality whom audiences in every big theater in Boston have applauded through the years. . . . He appeared at the famous Austin and Stone's Museum, at the old Boston Theater, in the old Keith's two-a-day. . . . He used to come to town with the Rogers Brothers. In shows reminiscent of the Rover Boys' adventures—plays with such names as "The Rogers Boys at Harvard," and "The Rogers Brothers Abroad."

PAT'S DAD WAS THE ORIGINAL Pat Rooney in the theater. . . . He imported himself from the Old Sod many seasons ago, and his specialties were wrestling and fighting, but he cashed in on his fame as an athlete so that he became the first vaudeville "single" to earn $1000 a week. . . . He died when our Pat was 10.

MRS. ROONEY WANTED THE ROONEY name to be a fixture in the theater. . . . Young Pat was soon on the boards, although he never studied dancing. . . . His real start came when he emerged from the office of Witmark, the music-publisher, with a copy of "The Daughter of Rosie O'Grady." . . . The then-current vogue of imitating other dancers did not appeal to young Pat. . . . He wanted to be imitated himself—and none will deny that he has not had his wish.

TWO MONTHS AFTER Pat emerged with the song "Rosie O'Grady" the Rooney waltz clog was famous.

THE ROONEY FAMILY PLAYED in vaudeville for many years. . . . Mrs. Rooney was Marion Bent, and with Pat Rooney, 3d, she and her husband became vaudeville's most famous trio. . . . Well, Pat is going it solo now.

FRANKLYN D'AMORE AND PARTNER
They're Latin Quarter-Bound in Mysterious Booking
Marion Rooney died last year, and he and young Pat don't hit it off together (professionally) very well.

CONFIRMING OUR NOTION that the Latin Quarter is doing mysterious things in the exploitation line, we submit the accompanying picture of two handsome persons. . . . The man's name is Franklyn D'Amore. (My, my!) . . . But what he does, and who is the lady, the deponent (Mr. Lou Walters) doth not say. . . . Franklyn and the gal, however, are described as "terrific"—and they will be on the bill with the lively young veteran, Pat Rooney.

GLORIA SWANSON IN FILM COMEBACK

By Louella O. Parsons

Gloria Swanson

HOLLYWOOD, April 3—Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., who has been devoting his time to speech-making these last eight months, takes time out to star in "The Corsican Brothers" for Edward Small. Doug had said again and again he wouldn't make another picture until he had a role comparable to "The Prisoner of Zenda" and that he was fed to the teeth with these drawing room dramas in which he had no chance to do more than use a broad "A."

Well, Alexandre Dumas' famous novel, "The Corsican Brothers," an exciting adventure story laid in 1850, gives Doug ample chance to play a role into which he can get his teeth, so to speak. He will have the dual role of the brothers—one a colorful, exciting character, the other the opposite. Doug, who telephoned me he and Mary Lee were going East today, said that he was glad to make a picture for United Artists—the company his father, Douglas, Sr., helped organize.

ANN RUTHERFORD

—she'll wear gorgeous clothes.

THE AGELESS GLORIA SWANSON, who has been off the screen for seven years, is planning a return. Gloria hasn't a line in her face. She is as slender as a girl and she is still one of the smartest dressed women in America, so it is only fitting that she, who was one of the pioneers, should make a movie. The contract is all waiting and ready to be signed and unless something entirely unexpected happens she'll co-star in "Father Takes A Wife" with Adolphe Menjou, who always looks as if he were an advertisement for what the well dressed man wears. Gloria, playing the wife of a millionaire, a woman who, while not young, is as ageless as the real Gloria—and more important

VIRGINIA AND DARRYL ZANUCK have been skating at Sun Valley for the last three or four days. That's Darryl's favorite recreation but he returned today to start the new contract given him as vice-president in charge of production of 20th Century-Fox. He'll be doing business at the old stand at 20th until 1947. The first thing Darryl did when he got to his desk was to make arrangements to produce "A Yank in the RAF," his first movie under his new contract. It stars Tyrone Power, which means that Ty is definitely not available for "Kings Row," the Warner movie.

PAULETTE GODDARD is certainly one of the most co-operative people in the whole world. Although she's making two pictures at once at Paramount—"Hold Back the Dawn" and "Nothing But the Truth," she is never too busy to talk over radio script. Paulette is my guest of honor Friday on the radio at which time James Roosevelt's first motion picture "Pot O' Gold" will be previewed over CBS from 7 to 7:30. This broadcast had plenty of helpful suggestions both from Charles Chapin and James Roosevelt. She may play the lead in C. E. De Mille's "Reap the Wild Wind"—that is, if it can be arranged for her.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Al Vaughn, Edward Small publicist, and his wife, welcomed seven-pound Sandra Catherine today; Charles Isaacs, who has gone to camp for a year, left Ann Rutherford—his best girl, his yacht. Wonder what she'll do with it? Quentin Reynolds is on his way back to England, keeping his word to stick it out with the English, saying if they can take it so can he.

BARBARA ALLEN'S (Vera Vague) ice cream social was something new in Hollywood "sassasity." Annabella and Tyrone Power looked too cute in their gingham clothes—each of them with a heaping dish of ice cream: Marcia Ralston, Phil Harris' ex, has signed a U contract. She's a very pretty girl; Gloria Lynch, the Chilean beauty, night clubbing with Bruce Cabot; you'll no longer see Andy Hardy's sister Marion in the "Hardy" series—because Cecilia Parker and M-G-M didn't get together; call out the reserves! Carmen Miranda is going to play a week's personal appearance engagement at both Loew's State and Grauman's Chinese theaters and she'll "heel" the people. First time there's been a stage show at Grauman's since the good old days of Sid Grauman.

LOUELLA PARSONS, famed internationally-circulated Hearst motion picture columnist, will be heard locally over Station WEEI every Friday between 10 and 10:30 p. m.

Oscar Serlin, busy battling the United Booking Office since the advent of "Life With Father," has returned from a four-week tour with the news that he has independently booked 80 playing weeks for the touring companies of "Life With Father."

He reports that 95 per cent of the bookings were made with theaters regularly booked by UBCC. The two touring troupes will each use up 40 weeks on tour the balance of this season and next. It is the first time a single attraction has been independently routed about the country in 25 years.

Stage Chance For Hub Girls

Another popular American operetta, the Shuberts' sponsored "Rose Marie" will follow the amazingly successful "Blossom Time" into the Shubert.

A strong New York cast is promised and it has been announced that every detail of rehearsals and preparation will take place in the Hub—on the Boston Opera House's massive stage. After the show has been readied, it will be moved to the Shubert for the opening.

Although the principals will be from Broadway, four properly qualified Boston girls are to be chosen for song-and-dance chorus roles. They must be at least five feet seven, and with the requisite training and experience. Applicants will be interviewed on the Shubert stage Friday morning at 11.

'Bad Man' Now at Loew's

Wallace Beery is he who got slapped—and was slapped right. In "The Bad Man," his new starring picture opening today on Loew's State and Orpheum screens, he had to be slapped by Laraine Day. The technique was carefully explained to her, the camera angles worked out:

"Don't be afraid to lay it on," said Beery. "You couldn't slap hard enough to hurt me."

The camera started. Laraine swung with all the strength of her athletic young body. The slap popped so loudly that it almost broke the sound valve. Beery brought red to Beery's cheek, and Laraine's hand stung for the rest of the day.

Beery took two of the slaps in long shots and one in close-up. Hereafter, he says, he won't tell slapping actresses they can't hurt him.

"The Bad Man," based on Porter Emerson Brown's stage play, one of the greatest hits in New York theatrical history, deals with the adventures of the redoubtable Pancho Lopez, Robin Hood, who sets out to adjust the lives of a group of "tenderfeet" with hilarious results.

The cast includes Beery, Lionel Barrymore, Miss Day, Ronald Reagan, Henry Travers, Nydia Westman, Tom Conway, Chill Wills, Chris-Pin Martin, Charles Stevens and others.

The co-feature, "Topper Returns," is a Hal Roach mystery-comedy starring Joan Blondell, Roland Young, Patsy Kelly, Billie Burke and Carole Landis. It's another adventure of the super-snoper, this time with a new glamour ghost. Eddie "Rochester" Anderson, Donald McBride and George Zucco are featured. Roy del Ruth directed.

St. Leonard Band On RKO Boston Stage

Honoring the headlining Rose Marie, the St. Leonard parish band of the North End, New England diocesan champions, will appear on the RKO Boston stage on Saturday evening, at 8 o'clock, as an added attraction.

At Uptown Friday

"Strawberry Blonde," streamlined gay nineties comedy with Jimmy Cagney, Olivia de Havilland and Rita Hayworth, and "Virginia," featuring Boston's own Stirling Hayden with Fred MacMurray and Madeleine Carroll, open on Uptown screen tomorrow.

TRIXIE HEMMING paused at the foot of the ranch house steps. "By the way, Jeff," her cool glance flicked over the young man who was striding up from the bunk house. "I'd like you to take that bunch of cattle out of the north pasture. Run them up on the ridge where the feed is better."

Without waiting for an answer, she sauntered down toward the corral.

Jeff Hartley swore softly to himself as his crowded eyes followed the trim figure of the boss' wife. The very rhythm of her walk added to his irritation. It was a self-satisfied, smug, complacent swagger that announced plainly in words, "I've got the world where I want it, and don't you forget it!"

A few months ago, Jeff himself had been feeling that he had the world pretty much where he wanted it. It wasn't so bad, being foreman of the Hemming ranch before he was 25, being rodeo champion of Silver Creek County, and last, but far from least, being in love with the sweetest and prettiest boss' daughter who ever graced a Western range.

The fact that Babs Hemming was not yet in love with him had been immaterial at the moment, because he had had every intention of making her fall in love. Day dreams of how that friendly teasing camaraderie of hers would gradually deepen to his own emotion had been an enthralling preoccupation of those by-gone days.

Before the dreams could materialize, however, Fate had stepped in at the spring rodeo and turned Babs' world upside down.

Babs' father, after six years of being a widower, had succumbed to the dangers of the dangerous age, and married Trixie Katon, star of the Northwestern Rodeo Circuit.

Trixie was about five years older than Babs, had been married twice, and was as hard and calculating as they come.

But Fletcher Hemming had not seen any of that. He had seen only the spun gold hair, the enormous blue eyes bravely winking back the tears under her long dark lashes as she told him of the disillusion that had marred her security of a home, and for the happiness of loving a strong man who would protect her always.

It was all over before any one but Trixie realized what was happening. Babs and Jeff had been engrossed in pulling in their own prizes at the rodeo, and it is doubtful if Fletcher Hemming himself suspected that the whirlwind emotion of those spring days was sweeping him to matrimony.

THE NEW BOSS

Whatever his surprise, there was no doubt of his infatuated satisfaction in finding himself the husband of the famous Trixie. Sublimely ignoring the chorus of "No fool like an old fool" that rang over the range, he fatuously put himself and his ranch, to any nothing of Babs and Jeff, in Trixie's hands.

"Don't let her get your goat, Jeff!"

Jeff swung around at the soft voice that floated down from the porch.

"She's got it!" "His heart con-fracted at the heart breaking little smile Babs gave him. "And she knows it!"

"She's trying to make you go, because she can't get Dad to fire you." Babs flashed for a moment in Babs' troubled brown eyes. "Not even she can hypnotize him to that extent—yet. Please stick it, Jeff!"

"Why do we either of us stick it?" In two steps Jeff was up beside her, pleadingly taking both her hands in his. "Babs, if only —"

"Let's not go into that again, Jeff! I've got to stand by Dad. He needs me. He doesn't know it now, but —"

"Like h— he needs you!" Jeff stormed. "If you loved me, Babs—!" he broke off despairingly. Babs couldn't think of love now. She was so deeply wounded she was incapable of grasping at love for herself. She was remote—and suffering.

"I'm sorry." He gave her hands a squeeze and dropped them. "We'll stand by both of us. Though I'm hanged if I can see what good it does."

"Neither can I, yet," Babs admitted. "But I've got to bring Dad out of his trance somehow, before Trixie ruins him. She's working on him now to sell his last bunch of securities to do over the house and build a swimming pool."

"Swimming pool!" Jeff ejaculated. "When there isn't enough water for the cattle now!"

"That's what is making Dad hold out. I heard them quarreling last night, when Dad left for Sheridan this morning. He looked so bewildered and unhappy! But when he comes back tomorrow, Trixie'll have him under her spell once—"

A clatter of hoofs coming up the slope from the gate interrupted her. "Who's that?"

A moment later a horseman appeared to the accompaniment of Jeff's scornful "Sam Ardley! We might have guessed he'd be over, with your Dad away! Want me to beat him up?"

"That wouldn't do any good, either," Babs brought out through set lips.

"It would do me a lot of good."

Jeff watched the new pusher from the neighboring ranch ride down to meet Trixie at the corral. "How about you and me going for a ride, too?"

"I'll help you run the cattle up to the ridge," Babs suggested. "We mustn't give Trixie a chance to tell Dad that you deliberately disobeyed her."

Sleep that night was out of the question for Jeff, with the things Babs had told him that afternoon rioting through his mind. He had had no idea that Trixie had gotten so much money out of the Old Man! At this rate—

"KNOCKED OUT!"

A shape suddenly materialized in the open door of the bunk house. Starting up Jeff made out Babs and came in—Trixie was taking out Dad's bonds—we—she—we fought and she fell and hit her head—"

His heart sick with apprehension, Jeff knelt beside Trixie.

"She's only knocked out!" He fairly shouted in his relief. "Get some water, Babs! No, first put those bonds back in the safe," he motioned to the securities lying scattered on the floor. "I'll take her to her room before we bring her to—"

"That's fine!"

Babs and Jeff whirled to the door, to find themselves covered by Sam Ardley's gun.

"Reach 'em, and make it snappy! Get over beside him, Babs, and you, Jeff, throw out your hard-ware!" There was no mistaking the threat in the menacing voice.

"He means business Babs!" Jeff warned, as he obeyed. "Let him take Trixie and the bonds and clear out!"

"Smart guy!" Sam Ardley gave a short laugh. "But it won't work. I'm not lugging any passed out dame and giving you a chance to jump me! The bonds are all I'm after." He was edging over to the safe as he talked, his eyes never leaving Babs and Jeff, his gun never wavering, while he groped the securities into his left hand.

It was in the instant of his staglighting up, when elation for a second relaxed his guard, that Jeff made his plunge. With a lightning thrust against Sam's arm, he sent the gun clattering to the floor, bearing its owner and himself along with it.

Reveling in at last being able to bring some action to Babs' problem, Jeff managed to twist Sam's arm behind him, and land a swift uppercut to his chin that sent him staggering to unconsciousness.

It was noon the next day, when Babs returned from having met her father at the train. One look into Fletcher Hemming's eyes was all Jeff needed. They were clear and strong again, the eyes of a man no longer under a spell.

"Babs tells me you got the outfit out of the way, and left this thing hushed up, Jeff." His eyes and mouth were stern, but the firm grip of his hand told Jeff that the sternness was not for him. "Where are they?"

"Trixie's locked in her room, and Sam's in the cellar."

"I reckon when I've had a talk with them, they'll be glad of a chance to clear out. I'll stake Trixie to a divorce."

The weary disillusion of his voice made Babs hug his arm with a loving little cry. For a moment his grim sadness lifted. He looked from Jeff to Babs. "And from what I hear of the way you've kept last night," he added. "It looks as though I'll be staking Babs to a wedding!"

He went into the house, leaving Babs and Jeff to the dreams that had at last come true.

Listen, World!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

YOU RESENT all this present menace, confusion and insecurity, don't you? You think wistfully of the "good old days" when "everything went along smoothly and nobody dreamed of war."

Well, I'm not so keen on the present rumpus myself. I could do with considerably less stimulation. But I realize it has its points. These hazards may be hard to take, but has it ever occurred to you how much worse your fate might be if you had no hazards at all?

Consider, for instance, the Dodo. The Dodo was a fabulous bird, who had things pretty much his own way back in the mists of antiquity.

Yet, in time, the Dodo began to falter in his routine. His reckless flight no longer darkened the heavens. His incredible wings withered. The young Dodos were feebler and fewer. Until after a while the Dodo disappeared.

RECENTLY, young Mathias L. Hauman, of Chicago, wandering through a museum, found the following inscription beneath the reconstruction skeleton of a Dodo:

"The absence of predatory enemies on their island habitats and the lack of need for alertness, brought about flightlessness through degenerative evolutionary processes."

In short, the Dodo had it too easy. He didn't have to fight.

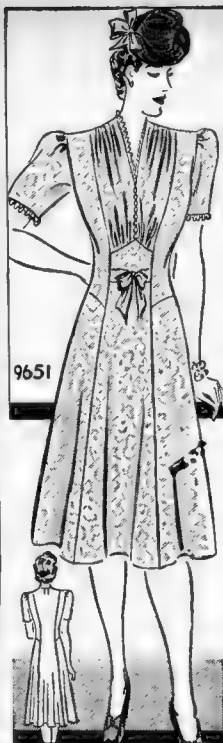

You don't need to look far for an example of that same "degenerative process." America, herself, has been doing a Dodo for the last 75 years.

But how many modern citizens would endure the hardships and face the dangers which their Purgrim forefathers tackled?

How many would stand up under the grueling drudgery, loneliness and monotony of the Covered Wagon Trail?

And now a lot of us would like to have Old Age Security begin on our 30th birthday!

OUR WINGS ARE CERTAINLY WITHERING!

Pan Rolls For Family

By MARTHA LEE

Pan rolls are a quick way to a family's heart. Balls of yeast dough placed close together in a pie dish bake into a perfect combination of crisp tops and soft centers. If Dad likes his rolls crusty, the balls of dough may be placed apart from each other on a baking sheet, so that during baking the sides become as crusty as the tops of the rolls.

Any woman can be an expert yeast-roll baker. Mixing the ingredients is easy and kneading the dough is fun. Important parts of dough making are keeping the mixture at a lukewarm temperature and kneading it to satiny smoothness. For the rising in a warm place, the pans may be placed in an unlighted oven made moist and warm by a large, shallow panful of boiling water in the bottom.

For a caterer's touch, brush the top of the molded rolls with milk and sprinkle with poppy seed or sesame seed.

THE ROUNDED EFFECT of these Pan Rolls is achieved by molding the dough into one-inch balls and placing in a greased pie dish to bake.

PAN ROLLS

2 cups milk
1/4 cup sugar
4 tsp. salt
2 tsp. shortening
2 cups water
1 cake of compressed yeast
1/4 cup lukewarm water
12 cups sifted flour (about)
Scald milk. Add sugar, salt, shortening and water. Cool to lukewarm. Add yeast which has been softened in 1/4 cup lukewarm water. Add flour gradually, mixing it in thoroughly. When dough is stiff, turn out on lightly floured board and knead until smooth and satiny. Shape into smooth ball. Place in greased bowl. Cover and let rise in warm place (80 to 85 deg. F.) until doubled in bulk. Punch down. Let rise again. When light, divide into 4 equal portions. Round up each portion into a smooth ball. Cover well and let rest 10 to 15 minutes. For Pan Rolls, mold dough into 1-inch balls and place in greased pie dish. Or, mold into loaves and place in greased bread pans. Let rolls and loaves rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 deg. to 425 deg. F.) 40 to 45 minutes for loaves, 15 to 20

It seems it's a new, magical liquid . . . a thick, translucent, unperfumed affair . . . which will aid in refining creped skin and tautening flabby lines . . . and will help you pep your throbbing muscles up to the point that there'll be no sign of a sagging, double chin!

We especially want to tell you about it now, because you can get it at a 20 per cent discount during this week and next . . . pretty unusual with a brand new cosmetic creation, you'll admit.

of its presence for just a minute or so, because it will create a little tingling. After that the only sign of it is a slight humidity to the surface of the skin. As an overnight treatment, remove the "chin strap" with an astringent, then re-apply it.

There's one most important thing to remember in applying it . . . always hold your head high and your chin up . . . and keep its position as continuous as you can during the day.

To learn about this amazing new "invisible chin strap" liquid (available on a 20 per cent discount this week and next only) phone Arline Gould, LIB-674400, week-days except Saturday, or write, care of the Boston Evening American, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Polish-Born Man Pays U. S. Voluntary Tax

FAIRMONT, Minn., April 3 (AP)—Tony Czerwinski, a poor boy in Poland 50 years ago, and his wife Anna, didn't make much money last year, maybe $1000, maybe not that much, but they insist on paying income taxes.

They called on County Treas. Quimby A. Cory last week to see about it.

"Please, Cory," said Tony, "can't you fix it so we could pay just a little tax? You see we think this a great country and that we ought to pay something. Over here we're free. Over there it's different."

Cory wrote the Internal Revenue Dept. in St. Paul and Tony and Anna made their contribution cheerfully.

"If they need more, maybe Anna and I can pay some more," Tony said.

MONEY TO LOAN

Notice

to people who haven't time to "Shop Around" for a loan

What do you want—besides the cash—when you borrow money? Whatever it is, you'll find it at "Personal." You'll get the money—$10 to $100 or more—with the least possible delay. Instead of making it hard for folks to get cash, we want to make loans. We don't require a lot of security—we don't ask you to be a friend to act as co-maker—we'd rather lend on just your own signature (husband and wife both sign). Come in and see us... we'll welcome a chance to make you a loan.

CUBA'S ATHLETIC BATISTA

Kendrigan Wants Sox Train in Havana

By HERB FINNEGAN

FORT BENNING, Ga., April 3—Jim Kendrigan is putting the pressure on Joe Cronin to bring his Red Sox to Havana to train.

"There's no wind like there is in Florida," Jim advanced as argument No. 1. "The climate is ideal. Enthusiasm for baseball is high all year round. Look at the way the fans showered cushions on the field and carried the pitcher on their shoulders when the all-stars beat the Sox."

"You'll have the finest athletic plant in all Cuba at University of Havana," he went on. "You can live in a hotel where you'll get the best accommodations for little money, and the Sox would get rich in the bargain."

"Why, Larry Gardner's collegiate team drew 17,000 paying customers when it participated in the world amateur championship here last fall, and you couldn't draw that many spectators to a game in Sarasota playing the world champion Reds a double-header on Sunday. (He's right. Sarasota doesn't have the population.)"

"With Brooklyn training at Tropical Stadium and the Sox at University of Havana, your club could make more money than it ever made before in the spring."

You don't know Jim Kendrigan?

Well, he was called the "Tropical Knute Rockne" in a national magazine article not long back. But he's more than that. He's a good-will ambassador bent on improving relations between the Americas.

Kendrigan is a florid, well preserved man of 36 who still coaches football and track at University of Havana. He's an athletic soldier of fortune if ever there was one.

He's a native of Rockland, Mass., and is a graduate of Boston College in the class of '03. He played football, baseball and ran there with such noted Bostonians as Hughie McGrath and Tom Lavelle.

In the summer time he ran with the old champions at Charlebank which produced such world famous coaches as Jack Moakley of Cornell, Jack Ryder of B. C., Steve Farrell of Michigan, Poch Donovan of Harvard, Johnny Magee of Bowdoin and Ted Gormley of University of Loyola at New Orleans.

He started his coaching career at Westbrook Seminary in Portland, Me., in 1908 and continued it at Milwaukee High School, Marquette University, St. John's Military Academy in Wisconsin, Louisville University Prep, Detroit University Prep (where he taught Latin to Edsel Ford) and finally in 1916 at Kewatin Academy in Wisconsin which he used as a springboard to his present situation at Havana U. It came about in this way. Kewatin was famous for its athletes. It had Joe Guyon in its backfield after he left Carlele (remember Guyon, Calac, Welch and Thorpe?) before Joe moved on to Georgia Tech.

Kewatin, like other midwest schools, used to have its winter home in Florida, St. Augustine (condita 1565).

There the Cards used to train and there he met Joe Massaguer, dean of Cuban sports writers who induced him to come to University of Havana in 1923.

Kendrigan coached baseball that spring. His university team won 20 of its 21 games and the Cubans simply wouldn't let him go home.

Football had gone into a decline in Cuba, and Kendrigan revived it at the university that fall, though he is anxious to point out that it had not been for the Cuban Athletic Club, there could have been no hope for a football revival in this "Pearl of Antilles."

At any rate, this former Boston College boy has been at University of Havana since and Cubans regard him as an athletic Batista.

He wants, he says, to have the Cubans see hitters like Jimmie Foxx, Lou Finney, Ducky Medwick, Ted Williams and the rest because he believes a study of their batting styles would benefit the Cubans materially.

"They're the greatest natural ball players in the world," said Jim, and one could believe him after seeing them field and throw. "But they're not so big physically as the Americans, and haven't their power."

"If they had a chance to study the styles of some of the great hitters, however, I believe they would improve, and that's why I'm hoping I can induce Joe Cronin to bring his Red Sox here, possibly in 1943."

Jim Kendrigan has not been in the United States since 1928. . . In that year he was there with Sprinter Pepe Barrientos en route to the Olympic games. . . Barrientos was a University of Havana boy who reached the Olympic semi-finals that year, and who later defeated the world's best in post-Olympic meets in England and Ireland.

Tropical Stadium, where the Sox and Reds play, seats 15,000. . . "The best park we have played on all year," the Sox agreed. . . The grass is as plush as that on the fairways of a golf course. The outfield measures 350 feet in left, 495 in center and 350 in right. The park is fringed with palms, and the setting, a natural one, is so low that no wind at all hits the players. . . Brooklyn used it for nearly a month this spring.

The Cuban papers daily carry the scores of all major league baseball games. The island is very baseball-minded here, and Kendrigan says if the major league scouts spent more time here they'd find plenty of material worthy of a shot at big time. . . Adolph Luque, Mike Gonzales, Armando Marsans and Jose Rodriguez are a few of the Cubans who made good in the majors. . . Rodriguez, by the way, acted as guide for the Red Sox while they were in Havana.

Kendrigan's University of Havana eleven are good enough to hold their own with such Florida teams as Rollins College and University of Tampa, but they haven't the weight of, nor do they throw blocks like Henry Tocijowski. . . Kendrigan, here since 1923, plans to stay in Havana the rest of his life. He has a retiring fund awaiting him, and he plans to take advantage of it. . . He thinks the University of Havana baseball team could defeat Duke, Georgetown, Boston College and other

EVENING AMERICAN, THURSDAY, APRIL 3, 1941

A private little skating session, slated for the Boston Garden some time this afternoon, holds the answer to the Bruins' playoff destiny.

Out on the ice will be little Bobby Bauer, game and stubborn to the very core, who will try to see if he can handle a stick with a left shoulder aching and throbbing because of wrenching muscles and a bad bruise.

And around Bobby rest the hopes of the Bruins in this seventh and final playoff game in Series A tonight at the Garden—the clash that will determine whether the Ross-men or the Maple Leafs meet Detroit in the Stanley Cup finals.

With Bauer, the Bruins should be a 10-5 favorite. Without Bauer, the Leafs should be the choice.

If it seems strange that one player should so affect the odds, one needs only to check with anybody who has seen all six games.

CHECKED BY McDONALD

In the opener the Kraut line stole the show completely. Then Bauer went out and, despite brilliant individual play by Schmidt and Dumart, the line just couldn't click. Bauer returned after missing the second game because of a cut in his leg, for he knew he was badly needed. He was unable to skate up to par and suffered through three games just to keep his line intact.

But last Tuesday night, he was back in shape and the Kraut line really clicked. They easily dominated the night and threatened every moment they were on the ice.

Came the third period and down went Bobby again—this time from a legal check by Bucko McDonald. The bump was so vicious that Bauer thought his shoulder was broken.

X-rays yesterday revealed no break. As a result, Dr. Martin Crotty and Trainer Hammy Moore worked most of last night and started again early this morning with heat treatments and light massage. This afternoon Bobby will try to handle his war club. If he's successful, the Bruins should be in. Without Bauer it's going to be a long night.

It's not Bauer alone who is causing the Bruins much concern. Roy Conacher has aggravated an old knee injury and he's slowed down almost to a stop. With Bauer and Conacher below par and Cowley definitely out, the Bruins are at a definite disadvantage, for the Leafs have 17 men fit and ready, though only 15 are needed.

UNPREDICTABLE SERIES

This situation would ordinarily wash up the Bruins, but nobody can predict what the Ross-men are going to do as far as this series is concerned.

This present playoff struggle with the Leafs has been one of the most unusual in playoff history.

The Bruins clouted the Leafs in the opener, and it looked like four straight.

Next, we find Cowley and Bauer out, and the Bruins drop two in a row, and are apparently through. Then, out of nowhere, the Bruins grab a game in Toronto to deadlock the series, and our heroes again become favorites. Back to Boston they came and the Leafs

BRUINS' QUESTION MARK—Much of the Bruins' success in beating the Toronto Maple Leafs in the seventh and deciding game of Series A tonight at the Garden rests on the ability of Bobby Bauer, above, to shake off a shoulder injury. Bauer is undoubtedly the sparkplug of the Kraut line and as the Krauts have gone in this series so also have the Bruins.

Boston to See for First Time Bruins' New Playoff Tactics

"If anybody thinks we're extending this series for the gate, they're crazy," said Wally Stanowski, Leaf's defenseman, as he grumbled over the fact that he had to make another trip to Boston. "I would have liked nothing better than to wash those Bruins up in four straight," he concluded.

Des Smith was highly insulted

when somebody compared his discolored optic to Buck McDonald's

"Why Bucko's is just the common back alley variety," chirped Smith, "while mine is a super super." And, it is at that . . . Connie Smythe is due in this afternoon with Jack Church and Frank Goldup. . . Church may supplant Bingo Kampman who looked far below par Tuesday night.

The Bruins have finally learned playoff tactics and the exhibition they'll put on tonight will surprise fans who are accustomed to their "streamline" methods. . . the cut over Milt Schmidt's eye healed enough overnight so that no stitch was necessary. . . the Bruins fear a man like Drillon more than anybody else. . . this big right winger just loafs and fools around all night but leaves him uncovered for a moment and there's trouble ahead.

Connie Smythe will be on the bench and with so much at stake, the Col. should be at his best. . . If Micky Ion calls any decisions to displease the little Col., there will be howling that will be heard up in the gallery.

Walter Brown, who made both

From here in the competition wakes hot in every amateur and open division of the annual tournament, the fields increasing in size daily and spurred to intensive action by the comparatively low scores which have prevailed from opening day.

Four new divisional leaders were registered during the fourth day battling, a couple of talented young ladies taking over the limelight.

OPENS STRONG
Impressive was the women's amateur singles performance of Miss Virginia Blomworth of Malden, a member of the well known Oteora Girls' Club team, who came up with a fine three strings total of 303 to pace the singles field.

Miss Blomworth, a 25-year-old bookkeeper, opened at a fast pace, helping herself to a string of 112. She finished strong with 94-97 for her total which gives the coming amateur girls a real goal at which to shoot.

Lorraine Belanger, pretty little 16-year-old junior at St. George's High, Manchester, N. H., turned in a highly creditable performance in pacing the school girls' field. Miss Belanger, participating in her first American-Record championship, was 102-81-81-264.

366 PERFORMANCE
The Frazier Gas Five of East Walpole, composed of recognized top-notch performers, took over command of the men's open teams with a combined effort of 1535.

Finally came Adele and John Chapman of 931 East Fourth st., South Boston, whose 563 was good for a one-point edging of Mary and Paul Kelleher of Cambridge in the amateur mixed doubles.

Perhaps the finest individual performance of the entire 1931 tournament to date was carded by young Louis Morganti of East Walpole, who hit 107-133-126-366 for his three strings as a member of the Frazier Gas five in the open men's teams competition and 112-100-121-117-102-557 for his five strings in the men's doubles open.

IN ABLE HANDS
Participation in this year's tournament to date have been openly in admiration of the conduct of the tournament as handled so effectively by Manager Jack Stafford, Fred Fallon and Richard Jones, floor managers.

Fallon, one of New England's outstanding sports radio announcers, has long been recognized as one of the truly "great" professional bowlers in candlepin ranks. He brings to the American-Record tournament executive ability which keeps the tournament channels clear and competition humming along with never a hitch. The tournament director feels that in Stafford, Fallon and Jones, the best possible men to handle such a gigantic event are at the directional helm.

Kendrigan has a sister teaching in Milton. He's related to the McNarys of South Boston, one of them, W. S., a former Congressman, and another, Herb, a secretary to ex-Mayor Mansfield . . . Kendrigan played with Arthur Gould, of the Boston school system, and his brother Joe on the Rockland Town baseball team years ago.

University of Havana has 12,000 students. It is the only university on the island . . . There are 13 different schools in the university, and Kendrigan claims its medical school, which interchanges with Cornell, is as efficient as any in the U. S. . . Dr. Mendes Penate, the new president of the university, is a great sports supporter, and is having a new field house built, the best in Latin-America.

Bay State Boxers Win Three National A.A.U. Titles 35

CITY OF LOWELL TOPS NATION WITH TWO RING CHAMPIONS

Three Bay State lads today wore national boxing crowns in leading the swing of A. A. U. championships away from the West Coast.

When the stars of the 1941 Bay State boxing tournament, which took place at the Boston Garden, it was found that three Massachusetts youngsters and one Philadelphia lad had just won the eight national crowns after a three-night tourney of 118 blistering bouts.

While the Bay State dominated the bouts, the city of Lowell was undisputed national honors by furnishing two new champs, in the 147 and 160-pound classes.

NEVER PRESSED

Lowell schoolboy Jimmy Mulligan, runner-up for the 147 pound title last year, had a difficult task outpunching rugged John Lawes, of Cleveland, for 163-pound honors in one of the most bruising battles of the tourney.

Just before Mulligan entered the ring for his final, his townsman, Dave Andrews, eked out a hard-earned decision over George Horne, of Cleveland, for the 147-pound title.

The other Bay State winner was Frank Leonard, of Taunton, who never was pressed while outpointing Carl Palumbo, of Amsterdam, N. Y., in the 126-pound class.

SECOND BEST AGAIN

Two other 1940 runners-up qualified for the final round. Tommy Moyer of Portland, Ore., making his fifth try for a national championship, left-jabbed the 135-pound title from Gus Stanford of Seminole, Okla.

The other, James Reddick, St. Louis Negro, again finished second best in the light heavyweight division, for he dropped a close decision to Shelton Bell, Wilberforce, O., after they waged a slow contest.

The most surprising victor of the tourney was Ragan Kinney, 22-year-old Hartman, Ark., school teacher, in the heavyweight class.

STOPPED BY REFEREE

Kinney shocked the 10,000 crowd by subjecting the highly touted Rodie O'Dooley, of Steamboat Springs, Col., to an amazing reversal in his semi-final, and then won the title by scraping out a close decision over Al Jordan, ruff-punching Kansas City Negro.

The other of the two Negro victors was Raymond Brown of Chicago, who gained the 118-pound title in easy fashion, when one of his hooks gashed the right eyebrow of Boston's Tony DeGregorio in the first round of their final. The referee intervened.

Rugged little Lawrence Torpy, of Philadelphia, sparked the Eastern finalists by eking out a divided decision over Harold Dade, Chicago Negro.

Manlapig Pins O'Dell at Arena

Pantoleon Manlapig came from behind to beat Red O'Dell, the former Green Dragon, in the main wrestling bout at the Arena.

O'Dell won the first fall in 11:09 seconds with a stepover toe-hold, but he was then floored in 5:29 with an inside crotch and body lift and slam and in the deciding fall he was downed again in 13:06 with a cobra hold.

In the semifinal, Waladyslaw Talun floored Count Govro in 4:21 with a body lift and slam.

Lou Plummer had the best of Lord Albert Mills and won in 14:39 with an inside crotch, body lift and slam. George Linehan pinned Tony Jordan with an airplane wheel and slam, and Pat Beel and Les Ryan went to a 30-minute draw.

PHILLY, PITTSBURGH SWAP FRANCHISES

CHICAGO, April 3 (INS)—Footballly speaking—Pittsburgh is Philadelphia and Philadelphia is Pittsburgh today as the four-day annual meeting of the National Football League gets under way in Chicago.

This rather surprising geographical disarrangement was the result of a deal sprung on the owners and coaches of the National League as they began to get down to the business of installing Elmer Layden as commissioner, and either reselecting Carl Stork of Dayton, O., as president or abolishing the office. Also on the league program was the adoption of new rules and 1941 schedule arrangements.

The Pittsburgh-Philadelphia "deal" was this: Bert Bell and Art Rooney, co-owners of the Philadelphia Eagles, swapped franchises with wealthy young Alexis Thompson, owner of the Pittsburgh club of the National League.

NOVEL TRADE
The exchange of franchises does not affect the player-personnel of the two clubs. Bell and Rooney will take their Philadelphia team intact to Pittsburgh, and Thompson will move his Pittsburgh team to Philadelphia.

Sports historians admitted today they could find nothing in the annals of sportsdom to compare with the football deal.

What made the transaction all the more surprising was that only last December Thompson reportedly paid Rooney $165,000 for the Pittsburgh club.

The ink was hardly dry on that contract when Rooney bought half interest in the Philadelphia club from Bell. After the new Thompson admitted the whole thing was his idea because he thought it would be easier to operate in Philadelphia than in Pittsburgh because Philadelphia is near New York, where he lives.

NEED COMMISSIONER
All of the above gives some idea of the job that Commissioner Layden will walk into Friday. Since the Pittsburgh-Philadelphia deal was consummated before Layden officially assumed office, he probably will not be called upon to rule in the situation. Nevertheless, in discussing the trading of franchises, one of the owners found occasion to remark:

"You can see now, just why it is smart for professional football to have a commissioner."

Among the league officials who reported early for the meeting besides Thompson, Bell and Rooney, were George Halas, of the Chicago Bears; Charles Bidwell of the Chicago Cardinals; Fred Marzetti, Detroit; George Marshall, Washington; "Curley" Lambeau, Green Bay; Tim Mara, New York, and Dan Topping, owner of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

I AM STILL holding on with the Bruins . . . Playing on home ice the Rossens have better than an even chance to defeat the Maple Leafs in the deciding game of their playoff series . . . The Bruins have displayed an ability to come up off the floor and win when the odds have been against them.

Bobby Bauer has completely recovered from the effects of the injury he suffered in the opening game . . . In Tuesday night's clash at Toronto, Bauer was the star of the game . . . If Bill Cowley had not met with an injury in the opening tussle, the playoffs would now be over in the Bruins' favor.

While waiting to go into the ring at the Garden last night, Rodie O'Dooley, heavyweight from Steamboat Springs, Col., told me he was not born in Ireland, but rather at Steamboat Springs, Col.

"I come from Irish stock, but first saw the light of day at Steamboat Springs, Col.," declared O'Dooley . . . "I don't want to sail under false colors . . . My father was born in New York city, but his mother came from Ireland."

O'Dooley has been boxing for less than a year . . . He is 20 years old, six feet two and a half inches tall and weighs 200 pounds . . . For a big fellow he is fast and a good boxer . . . He can also hit, and in the opinion of Jerry Pelton, his manager, he is destined to go places in the heavyweight division . . . Rodie was handicapped in the nationals as a result of a bad gash suffered over one of his eyes in his first trial bout . . . Four stitches were taken in the injured eye . . . The ordinary run of boxer would have withdrawn from the tournament under such conditions . . . O'Dooley, however, insisted that he remain in action, and Manager Pelton granted his request.

Baer-Nova Bout Will Be a Sellout

THE MAX BAER-LOU NOVA bout in the New York Garden tomorrow night is expected to sell out . . . Baer has temporarily at least given up his idea of becoming an actor and is down to the serious business of getting a title bout with Joe Louis . . . Baer knocked out Tony Galento and Pat Comiskey last Summer, and will try to add the youthful Nova to his list of victims . . . Nova has already beaten Baer, and believes he will repeat . . . Lou will enter the ring a slight favorite.

Nova was riding high on the flistic waves until he met Tony Galento in Philadelphia . . . Galento used every foul trick in the book and knocked Nova out . . . Lou recently staged a comeback by stopping Pat Comiskey . . . I do not believe anyone seriously believes either Baer or Nova could beat Louis . . . Baer had his chance to do so and failed, while Nova has yet to display sufficient ability to warrant one believing he is of championship material.

Nova is young, and so has a chance to improve . . . In two years from now, Nova might have a chance to win from Louis who would be going back by that time . . . Most champions are beaten because they are slipping rather than because they were opposed by a super fighter.

There was the recent case where Fritz Zivic dethroned Henry Armstrong . . . Mike Kaplan and two or three other welterweights could have performed the same feat if they had been in Zivic's place . . . Armstrong had gone back to a point where he was ready to be beaten by any first class welterweight.

Harry I. Day Camera at Narragansett Park

HARRY I. DAY, who blazed the way for others in the matter of race track photography, will have his famous camera, "The Eye in the Sky," back on the roof of Narragansett Park when the New England racing season opens on April 12. There has been more satisfaction in the pictures of race finishes at Narragansett Park than at any other track and it has been because Harry I. Day has been on the job with superior cameras and with the necessary experts to operate them.

There is an electrical timing device attached to the Day camera that gives the time of every horse in the race. By special arrangement with Harry I. Day these times will once more be a feature of the Green Race Special of the Boston Evening American. Persons who like to come up with winners follow these times as they frequently show that a horse that finished fourth or fifth was only the slightest fraction of a second behind the winner.

The camera has proved it is much faster than the human eye, while the electrical timer is an improvement over those operated by hand. One of the reasons Dave Wilson has been so successful as a handicapper is because he has made use of these new scientific devices when possible.

Wilson is today receiving congratulations. There was an added starter at Bowie, the stork, and he dropped over at the Wilsons' home in Baltimore and left an eight-pound baby boy. There are now three boys and a girl running under the Wilson colors. Dave will have to come up with plenty of winners to keep even with the overhead. Unfortunately the stork does not leave a bundle of cash when he pays a visit.

Random Shots at Target

BILLY CONN should not have any difficulty winning from Gunnar Barlund when they collide in a ten-round bout in Chicago tomorrow night . . . Barlund is a rough, tough fellow, but he is slow and has a weak defense . . . He also cuts up easily . . . The Gunnar should make an excellent target for Conn's punches.

The array of amateur boxers who appeared in the A. A. U. championships at the Garden are today on their way home to all sections of the country . . . The Simon pures furnished a grand show, while Herb Holm, Gene Driscoll and other A. A. U. officials ran things in perfect style.

RYBA LOOMS AS SOX HURLER FOR OPENER

FORT BENNING, Ga., April 3—Red Sox and Reds staged a story-book game as they paid baseball's tribute to the Army camp that has paid baseball a lasting tribute.

The Hose evened the count at four-all in the spring series with world's champions by chalking up a 3-0 victory at Ft. Benning, where some 5000 enlisted and draftee soldiers filled space designed to accommodate only half that number at the post's athletic field, which is dedicated to and named in honor of Hank Gowdy, Reds' coach, who was the first big leaguer to enlist in the last World War.

The swarm of khaki-clad lads, who overflowed grandstands and bleachers and stood a dozen deep around the fringes of the outfield, from foul line to foul line, saw the unpredictable Jimmy Tabor, released from the dog house again, share honors with the incredible Mike Ryba and the curve-balling Emerson Dickman who combined to decorate the Rhinelanders with a five-hit coat of whitewash.

The score was 1 to 0 until Tabor came up with the sacks loaded in the ninth to whittle a Joe Beggs serve into the left field crowd for what was a ground rule double, but would have been a home run under ordinary conditions.

Hitting a dime with his baffling screwball and sharp-breaking hook, Ryba, the ancient Cardinal castoff, let only one Red advance as far as third during a six-inning riot. The spectators didn't know it, of course, but by so doing, miracle-man, Mike ran his string of consecutive scoreless innings this spring to exactly 18.

He's been out four times, working three innings twice and six innings twice. And a foe hasn't come close to crossing the plate against him to date.

The regular season opens two weeks from today. Don't be surprised to see Mike start on the hill in the inaugural.

Bees Even Browns Series

HOUSTON, Tex., April 3—Playing in sultry, depressive weather, the Bees defeated the St. Louis Browns, 12 to 5, to square the series, six all. It was a tough day on the pitchers, who gave no less than 18 walks during the long drawn-out exhibition. And, judging from Eddie Rummel's umpiring behind the plate, it was just as tough on the arbiter.

Dick Erickson turned in his worst performance of the training season. He gave up four runs, yielded seven hits and issued five passes. Manny Salvo, who took over in the seventh, walked four in a row and then walked to the clubhouse and Eddie Carnett finished the game, but not well. He was found for eight runs.

Johnny Niggeling tied the Bees in knots for four innings. Then he was flattened for four runs. Fritz Ostermueller finished the game but not well. He was found for eight runs.

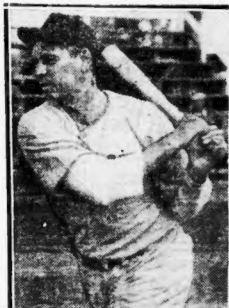

But, this one is different, said Nova's manager, Ray Carlen, today. Ray is a quiet guy who almost lost his card in the managers' union and benevolent society because he wouldn't even holler as loud as the fellows plotting flyweights. He points out that the reason this grudge is different is because he doesn't like it, even a little bit.

He's a little afraid that mixing this current dislike with Lou's hot-headedness may cause the whole thing to backfire right in Nova's lovely features tomorrow, and that

Tobin, Posedel Seek Revenge on Browns

By BILL GRIMES

TEXARKANA, Ark., April 3—Two veterans, Jim Tobin and Bill Posedel, who were "shell shocked" last Sunday down at San Antonio, will make another try to stop the St. Louis Browns this afternoon for the Bees.

BEST SOX HURLER—With baseball's seasonal debut only two weeks away, it looks as though Mike Ryba, above, ancient Cardinals castoff, will hurl the inaugural for the Croninmen. Mike's Grapefruit record to date is 18 innings of runless pitching.

FORMER B. C. GRIDIRON STAR MADE ENSIGN

Francis McGuffigan of Rosindale, former football player at Boston College, has been commissioned an ensign in the Naval Reserve and awarded the gold wings of a naval aviator at the Pensacola naval air station, Florida.

Graduating from the preliminary flight training course at the Squantum naval air base, McGuffigan reported for advanced training at Pensacola last June.

McGuffigan's home is on Rosindale ave., Rosindale.

Sullivan, Tebbetts Jobs in Jeopardy
LAKELEND, Fla., April 3 (AP)—It may be just a way of spurring Birdie Tebbetts and Billy Sullivan into working harder, but Manager Del Bayer, of the Detroit Tigers says, "Wouldn't surprise me if we opened the season with (Dixie) Farnsworth as our first string catcher."

Feller and Hubbell Resume Old Feud

TALLADEGA, Ala., April 3 (AP)—Bob Feller and Carl Hubbell were due to resume a four-year-old feud today as the Cleveland Indians and New York Giants continued their exhibition series. Babe Young and Johnny Rucker of the Giants were sent ahead to Atlanta for treatment of throat ailments.

At that time, Lou, beaten by Tony Galento and laid low by a little bug that did things to his blood stream, was bedded in a California hospital. Max came in to visit him one afternoon and "talked" all over the place.

BUT NOVA WON
Afterward, says Ray, the ex-king of the playboys headed right for the nearest sports editor's desk.

"Too bad about that Nova," he mourned. "A nice kid and good to his folks. But there he is. He'll never fight again. And to think I did that to him."

Tobin and Posedel received a terrible going over from the Haneymen in the final game in the Mission City.

In the opening innings, the Browns got to "porthole" for two singles, a two-bagger, a triple and a home run. And, but for the fact that Radcliff tried to take two bases on George McQuinn's single to left field and was nailed on a fine throw by Max West, there's no telling just how many more hits the Haneymen would have made.

SWEET REVENGE

For some reason, which even the experts have not been able to explain, the Browns only made three runs in that stanza. They must have taken pity on Posedel in the next three innings for they scored only two runs and three singles and a double. But, in the 5th, the Browns didn't pull any punches. They fell over Posedel and when the ex-salutaire retired, the Bees were trailing 2 to 8.

Then, it was Jim Tobin's turn. What the Browns forgot to do to Posedel they remembered when they saw "Tob" strut out to the hilltop.

During the last Bees-Browns game in Monterrey, Mexico, Tobin started against Eldon Auker, the submarine chucker.

Auker was a victim of a four-run second inning in which Gene Moore and "Bama" Rowell hit successive home runs out of Parque Chautemec. Then Eddie Miller opened the third with a terrific clout over the right center field wall.

As "Tob" passed Auker on the way to the mound for the 5th, half of the third, he asked Auker: "How do you hold that home run ball, Auker?"

After the remark the Browns were gunning for chance to pin Tobin's ears back. So, when he walked to the hilltop last Sunday with only his "nothing" ball, the Haneymen went to work on him. And how they dished it out.

The first five Browns that faced "Tob" hit safely. And, but for a lightning fast Wietelmann to Rowell to Dahlgren double play and a sensational stop by Babe Dahlgren, Tobin might still be trying to get somebody out.

CLOSE PITCHES

Jim Tobin and Bill Posedel have been in the game too long to sit back and take the shelling they received last Sunday without looking for revenge. They realize that the Browns did everything in their power to show them up on a day when neither of them had a thing.

So when Tobin and Posedel go after the Haneymen this afternoon the chances are that they will come up with more than the usual number of close pitches. "Tob" and Sailor Bill can get very mean out on that mound. And, today, they'll keep the Browns loosened up.

Manager Casey Stengel wants Tobin to go at least seven innings.

NOVA CARRIES MENTAL HOT-FOOT FOR BAER

NEW YORK, April 3 (AP)—Inasmuch as the grudge angle is the oldest form of flistic drum-beating known to man, it comes as no surprise to learn Lou Nova is carrying a strong mental hot-foot for Max Baer in their 12-round bout tomorrow night in Madison Square Garden.

But, this one is different, said Nova's manager, Ray Carlen, today. Ray is a quiet guy who almost lost his card in the managers' union and benevolent society because he wouldn't even holler as loud as the fellows plotting flyweights. He points out that the reason this grudge is different is because he doesn't like it, even a little bit.

He's a little afraid that mixing this current dislike with Lou's hot-headedness may cause the whole thing to backfire right in Nova's lovely features tomorrow, and that think I did that to him."

To a questioning look Max hurried to explain that in their first fight, back in 1939, the punches he hit Nova in the early rounds caused Lou's illness. He didn't explain what happened to cause Nova to stop him in the 11th round that night.

BAER CAN SLUG

Ever since Nova read about Baer's sympathy, the California collegian has been seeing red whenever the name of the mad-cap mauler is even thought of in his presence.

But in that frame of mind, Lou is likely to walk right out flat-footed and slug with Max. And whatever else you say about the gaudy, if not neat, Mr. Baer, you must admit no one is better than one to two to stand up and trade wallop for wallop with him, when he's swinging that right hand.

win, with critics all agreeing that the Leafs should clinch the series at home on Tuesday.

But back again came the Bruins to grab a surprise decision and put the teams even again.

So we find that of the three games each team has won, two of them have been on alien ice. Truly an unpredictable series.

And since the unbelievable has occurred so many times in these past six games, writers have given up trying to expert on the outcome—they're just sitting back to see what will happen.

FORGOT FEUDING

If Mel Hill, a washed-up right winger, can become a center on two hours' notice and outplay Toronto's Billy Taylor, which he did in Toronto Tuesday night, then even a rink-length goal by Frankie Brimsek wouldn't further amaze the scribes.

Hill came from nowhere to completely rout the Taylor line. The question now is whether it was the surprise element that bewildered Taylor or whether Hill really is great. If Mel can duplicate that stunt tonight, the Bruins have a new center who will rank with the best in the business definitely.

It's going to be Mel at center with Roy Conacher and Eddie Wiseman against the Taylor-Schriner-Chisholm line. And Hill has his work cut out for him, as has everybody else on the Bruins.

The secret behind the Bruins' last win was the fact that every member of the outfit forgot feuding and individual play to concentrate on his job. They backchecked and never left their lanes.

The result was that the Leafs had few openings. The same tactics tonight can move the Bruins into the finals even though Conacher is below par—provided Bauer can play.

Laurie Runs 117
To Equal Procita

Onio Laurie, of Scranton, Pa., ran out in the 14th inning of the second game at Shanley's Recreation with an unfinished run of 117 to score the second best high run made in the Boston emporium. Laurie is the co-holder of the world's high run of 127 made against Joe Procita but the game was played in Scranton.

In the first game Procita opened up in the first inning with an 85 and quickly defeated the Scranton man in four short innings, 125 to 22. The score of the second game was 125 to 35.

Borrowed Clubs

AUGUSTA, Ga., April 3 (AP)—Francis Guimet, the man who made golf front-page news by beating For Eby and Harry Vardon in a playoff for the 1913 U. S. open title, will have to play with borrowed clubs in his first Augusta masters tournament today. Guimet's clubs and luggage were put on the wrong plane.

Toronto trips with the squad, spent most of his leisure time buried in newspapers... he is the most avid newspaper purchaser and reader in town i. e., until Moe Berg returns in two weeks... Newspapers and everybody connected with the Bruins are being flooded with requests for tickets... telegrams started arriving the moment the train hit Pittsfield, and all the way messenger boys barged on with wires for people wanting duets.

The Garden actually seats 14,209 but 200,000 are permitted by fire regulations and the sum total of those two figures should equal tonight's gathering... Pat McCreevey will probably share the right wing assignment with Bobby Bauer if little Robert is able to take the ice.

Art Ross is particularly proud of the courage displayed by his Bruins in this series but he expressed some surprise over the fact that Eddie Wiseman hasn't been given more credit... "One thing about Wiseman," said Ross, "if you tell him to cover a man you can forget all about that assignment for you know that Wiseman will handle his job so completely that the opposing wing will do no scoring."

The Bruins' standout in this series, though, has been Milt Schmidt... not only has he been a scoring threat every time he has taken the ice but he has given the Leafs terrific punishment with honest to goodness checks—but where Tuesday night, Milt belted guys like Kampman and Hamilton around.

If the Bruins should win tonight, they will meet Detroit here Sunday and Tuesday in the first two games of the Stanley Cup finals... Art Ross had a bad neuritis attack and was limping badly when the squad arrived home yesterday.

PORTER'S CAP EN ROUTE EAST SEEKING TRIPLE TURF CROWN

LOS ANGELES, April 3 (AP)—Porter's Cap bumped eastward in a freight train today, resting his speedy legs for a shot at racing's triple crown for 3-year-olds.

The C. S. Howard ace will warm up in the Chesapeake Stakes at Havre de Grace April 13 then shoot at the Kentucky Derby May 3, the Preakness a week later and the Belmont Stakes on June 7. Only four horses have topped the triple—Sir Barton in 1919, Gallant Fox in 1930, Omaha in 1935 and War Admiral two years later.

Porter's Cap, winner of the $50,000 Santa Anita Derby, breezed six furlongs in 1:12.3 5 last Friday and promptly dropped to 6-1 in the Agua Caliente future book on the Derby. Only Dispose and Our Boots, at 5-1, top him. Rated next are Bold Irishman, Curious Coin and Whirlaway at 8-1.

Columbus Awarded Bowling Tournament

ST. PAUL, April 3 (AP)—Interest in the American Bowling Congress itself will vie for interest in the selection of the 1943 tournament city at the annual convention of the congress today and Friday.

Columbus already has been awarded the 1942 tournament, and the field for 1943 has been narrowed to two cities, Buffalo and Atlantic City. Indications are that Buffalo has a little of the edge, but the award cannot be made until more than 800 delegates from 120 city associations are polled as the last order of business Friday.
